

===Career on the Boston Flowers===

After six seasons of playing for the [[Hellmouth Sunbeams]] and the death of her [[Randall Marijuana|friend]], Hollywood got traded to the [[Boston Flowers]]. They had trouble to adjust at first, still feeling the echoes of [[Hellmouth#The_Tug|The Tug]] and being one of the worst players on the team as it was barreling into a [[Party_Time#Season_7_Speedrun|party time speedrun]].

After couple of seasons, Hollywood took over an old flower shop that used to belong to [[Hurley Pacheco|one of the Flower's incinerated players]] and currently served as a gardening supplies storage for the team. Running the flower shop helped Hollywood to finally adjust to her life in [[Boston]]. Its location was also helpful while dealing with [[Hellmouth#The_Tug|The Tug]], as it was near the dimensional distortion that led to the [[Hellmouth]]. Hollywood took part in the [[Boston_Flowers#Hellmouth_Beautification_Project|Hellmouth Beautification Project]].

Following [[Season 8]] the whole [[Boston flowers|Flowers]] roster gained [[Boston_Flowers#Grass_Blood|Grass Blood Type]]. Since that day, Hollywood's fur started morphing into dark grass and blooming with sunflowers when they experienced strong emotions. Even outside her hellhound form, Hollywood was often found wearing self-grown sunflower accessories.

While playing for the [[Boston Flowers|Flowers]] Hollywood started using the nickname Belladonna. On the team, they seemed to be friends with [[Moses Mason|Mason]], [[Hiroto Cerna|Cerna]], [[Jacob Haynes|Haynes]], [[Gloria Bugsnax|Bugsnax]] and, after some hesitation, [[Glabe Moon|Moon]].