

Mayor is at the podium.

Mayor

People of the city, thank you for allowing me to speak to you today. As you know, plans are in the works to build a new convention center for the city. I'd like to address some of the concerns that have been raised.

Some have asked how we plan to use the space during the frequent times that there is no convention in town. We have no plans for that. The space will sit unused, a blight on the area in which it is situated.

(The crowd cheers)

Some have asked how we plan to address the enormous amount of HVAC and electricity that such a space will use, even when there is no convention in town. We plan to pass that cost along to taxpayers.

(The crowd cheers)

Some have noted that the abandonment of the area will attract transients and drug addicts. They are correct.

(The crowd cheers)

A question I'm often asked is, what type of people will come to the conventions that are at this center? This will attract people to the city who have no investment in it. They'll spend their money on the corporations they recognize, rather than small local businesses. Lonely, they'll spend still more of their money on prostitutes and drugs, and those black markets will flourish in the area.

(The crowd cheers)

Finally, I've been asked who we plan to have build this convention center. It doesn't matter. Since no one will have an actual sense of investment in the building itself, the act of building it will attract an enormous amount of corruption and corner cutting. Pockets will be lined. Who cares whose.

(The crowd cheers)

In sum, a new blasted hellscape is coming to the city. Go fuck yourselves.

Fin.