Parent “Brag Sheet” for Private School Recommendations

Although counselors interview students about their strengths/weaknesses, accomplishments and goals as part of the private school application process, parents can provide additional insight about their child that can be extremely helpful to the guidance counselor. We hope you will use this sheet to better acquaint us with your son or daughter.

What do you consider to be your child’s outstanding accomplishments during the past several years? Why did you select these as the most important?

In what areas has your child shown the most growth and development in the last several years?

What do you consider to be his/her outstanding personal qualities?

If you could describe your son or daughter in five adjectives, what would they be?

Are there any unusual or personal circumstances that have affected your child’s education or personal experiences? If yes, please describe.

Please feel free to use a second sheet of paper if your comments do not fit into the space provided. These comments will allow your child’s guidance counselor to compose a more realistic recommendation for your son/daughter.
