

Yesterday and Today
Kaileigh Gonzales, The Woodlands High School

Yesterday, I was at the Hospital.

Yesterday, she told me the life-changing news that would leave my entire being in pieces.

My reality was altered.

My terrified, broken heart and mind would never be able to prepare for the Sickness.

Sadness.

Loneliness.

Today, I will persevere

With a strong mind that will blow away the doubt and fear.

With a new mindset on life.

With the mind of a fighter.

I was fortunate enough to beat the battle that is Pediatric Cancer.

Some aren't as lucky as me.

I am spreading awareness of Pediatric Cancer for the ones who can't.

Today and forever, I am spreading awareness not to demand people to understand what it's like to be a kid who had cancer, but to help them get a better insight.

I'm lucky to call myself something others can't.

A Survivor.
