

Hi Amanda, I came across your posts in the local business advertising group and I've noticed a few things that could potentially help you get more traffic and people interested in the lessons that you offer. If you are interested in knowing some more about this then please let me know

Hi Amanda, I'm a student in (town name) who is learning how to help local businesses capture attention online and I've come across your posts in the business advertising group and have a few marketing ideas that could potentially help you get more people interested in the lessons that you offer. If you are interested in knowing some more about this then please let me know

Hi Amanda, I'm a student in (town name) who is studying how to help local businesses capture attention online and I've come across your posts in the business advertising group and have a few ideas for tweaks that you could make to your posts that could potentially help you get more people interested in the lessons that you offer. If you are interested in knowing some more about this then please let me know and we can discuss this further

Hi Amanda,

I've seen some of your posts about the courses you offer come up on my facebook feed from the business advertising group. I'm a marketing student in Goulburn who helps local businesses get more clients through online posts/marketing. For example: Coming up with content ideas, using visual elements to catch people's attention, Getting more people to sign up for courses, Building social media accounts to reach more people who are interested in sewing/maths tutoring etc.

If you would be interested in discussing this further then please get back to me when you get the chance

Thanks, Ti

Chat GPT

Hi, Amanda

I've been checking out your posts about your sewing courses in the local business advertising group on Facebook. I'm a marketing student here in Goulburn, and I specialise in helping local businesses like yours boost their online presence and attract more clients.

I can help you with things such as:

- Crafting engaging content ideas to showcase your courses effectively
- Utilising visual elements to enhance engagement and capture attention
- Increasing sign-ups for your courses by targeting the right audience
- Growing your social media presence to connect with people interested in sewing, maths tutoring, and embroidery

If you would be interested in discussing this further then please get back to me when you get the chance

Thanks, Tiana