The skill is evident in all academic areas. Way to go! You are right where you need to be. You are meeting the grade level skill. You may need occasional teacher support to help you out.	Sometimes/2: A learner who is sometimes not meeting a grade level skill but has demonstrated that the concept is understood. The learner is progressing toward consistently. The learner needs teacher support. With more time and practice, the learner can become consistent. You're working on it. You're not all the way there yet, but with more time, practice, and focus, you can strive to become consistent.	Rarely/1: A learner who is rarely is not meeting a grade level skill. The learner has had exposure to the skill and opportunities to practice but there is no evidence of a solid understanding at this point.. The learner needs consistent teacher support. Extra support, along with additional time and practice, may be needed outside of the classroom to meet the skill. You benefit from extra practice and teacher support in this area. You might be just beginning to learn the concept, or it might be something you struggle with. Keep working hard and you'll improve this year!	X This means I have not observed and/or assess you in a particular academic skill yet.
