

Commissioner

You're the organizer and the face of your division: you build the teams up front, then you're the steady, reachable point of contact on the field all season.

The commitment. Mostly front-loaded — 8 to 12 hours at the start to recruit coaches and build teams (varies by division size), then about 2 hours per month for admin and attending board meetings.

What you're signing up for:

1. Build teams — Form balanced, blended teams that maximize enjoyment, skill-building, and friend-making, and assign your coaches and assistant coaches.
2. Recruit coaches — Send messages to your division to find coaches and assistant coaches for your teams.
3. Be present — Attend the majority of your division's sessions as the point of contact for coaches, players, and families — the first two days especially, when everyone's finding their team.
4. Stay reachable — Keep an eye on your commissioner inbox and reply to a text or message within a couple of hours. Slow or absent doesn't work for this role.
5. Be findable — Make sure your division knows who you are and how to reach you on the field; how you identify yourself is your call, just communicate it clearly.
6. Uphold policies — Referees, coaching conduct, safe play, and coordinating with the other on-field commissioners to call sessions per the EPSA weather policy.

Your point of contact. The Commissioner Coordinator is your go-to for anything you need — questions, problems, decisions. One clear channel keeps things fast for you and quiet for everyone else. We also have a shared chat room for commissioners to collaborate and share best practices.
