Slide 4 - Books

I have a short summary of the social psychology work from National Civic Review here, but you can also email me (mcarcas@colostate.edu) for a longer report if you like.

Slide 8 - Pew's 2014 research report -

Slide 12 - Wicked Problems

Martin's initial article on wicked problems and public engagement

The initial article that popularized the term wicked problems is from Rittel and Webber, 1972.

Slide 21 -

A great resource to get a better sense of how deliberative meetings work is the NCDD Resource guide, available here. NCDD is the National Coalition for Dialogue and Deliberation.

I didn't quite have time to talk about the concept of principled impartiality, but here is an essay I wrote on it.

Slide 22 - For more info on the DJP, visit their webpage here- <https://cpd.colostate.edu/djp/>

Slide 25-26 - A short article on the importance of bridging institutions,

<https://northfortynews.com/category/columns/counteracting-polarization-the-critical-role-of-bridging-institutions/>

I mentioned Robert Putnam's Bowling Alone here as well.
