

Goodness, you're right about the dream income being a bottomless pit...

But since you're making an effort to improve lives,

I'm surprised nobody's pointed this to you yet Josh, but there's a way to get more ambitious individuals to commit to your program,

It's the same way Spencer Stephenson grabs his clients, he's the only one in this industry doing it right now. The same method does wonders in other markets too.

But by using this strategy, anyone that doesn't commit straight away, can be nurtured into clients through emails.

If you want I can show you how it's done for free, this can be my way of making a positive impact on a large scale.

But Is there a reason you haven't tried this yet?
