

THE FINDER'S KEEPER

TRAILER

By Maddie Girouard and Landon Whisnant

[soft lapping of waves against a shoreline, a soft wind, a hypnotic rhythm accompanies the scene]

Finder voiceover

A wayward dream of two parts trust and one part entropy. Where hope is a worm that writhes in the hands of its captors.

[waves fade out and ambience of a cold concrete room fade in, a cell door opens in sync with rhythm]

Keeper

It's finally that time, huh?

[Keeper gets up from a creaky mattress, lighting of a cigarette can be heard as he flips through pages]

Finder voiceover

They never tell the worm why it has been locked away. They never tell it much of anything.

Keeper

This one has potential. It's a shame they're keeping so much from her.

Finder voiceover

And even when they let it go.. When it can move freely once more.. [Pause] The knowledge that it may be plucked again with such ease will always remain.

Keeper

Let's hope that doesn't cause problems. I don't ever want to see this place again.

Finder voiceover

The bars may open, and the chains may unlock, but what awaits on the other side is only a larger cell.

[Fade out as Keeper exits through a door]