Demos & Presentations

We're looking for fast-paced 10-15 minute presentations on anything AI-related that we can learn from. Topics can be technical or strategic (for example: running multi-agent systems, fine-tuning open source models, vibe coding demos, AI product strategy, research papers, ethics, policy, education, or AI philosophy). All perspectives are welcome.

We actively encourage women and people from underrepresented groups to submit a talk. You don't need polished slides, a clear idea and 10-15 minutes is enough.

Add yourself to the presentation list below with your full name and 1–2 lines describing what you want to share. A link to materials is optional (you can send it private to the organizers).
