Have you ever found that the word Santa is very quickly rearranged to be Satan? People don't know many things; one thing; Earth is hell; you don't remember your former life, but it's like getting a second chance. Second, Satan secretly rules the world, everything from a pandemic virus to uncontrollable wildfires, we are subject to his every whim. Three, if you can kill Satan, you get to take his place. However, Satan is not easy to find; he or she blends in with the population. There have been compassionate Satans, vindictive Satans, but nothing compares to the next Satan. Allen has been made fun of all his life because of social awkwardness and no filter when telling people what he thinks. He spends nights wandering the internet, waiting to troll his next unsuspecting victim. One night, for the tenth time, he was trolling a celebrity who just happened to be the real Satan. Satan had enough, and he wanted to cast a spell that would "accidentally" collapse Allen's roof.

However, Satan wanted to see the death of their troll, so first, the celebrity traveled to Allen's house. Mistaking Allen's roommate for Allen, Satan cast a spell, and the house collapsed on itself. Allen, who had forgotten to take out the trash for the next morning's pick up, saw the whole thing from the street and took down Satan with one blow to the head with a shovel. With the celebrity bleeding out on the front lawn, Satan's powers were transferred to the nastiest, vindictive, and most humanity hating person yet.

Welcome to the era of Allen.

Allen had always been something of an outcast. He was never quite able to fit in with the other kids at school, and as he grew older, his social awkwardness only seemed to get worse. He was always saying the wrong thing at the wrong time, and had a habit of blurting out whatever was on his mind without thinking about the consequences. As a result, he had always been the target of ridicule and bullying.

But Allen didn't let it get him down. He was a resilient person, and had developed a thick skin over the years. He found solace in the anonymity of the internet, where he spent his nights trolling celebrities and anyone else who crossed his path. It was a cathartic release for him, a way to vent his frustrations and take out his anger on people who would never know his true identity.

One night, as he was scrolling through his social media feed, he came across a post from a celebrity who had always been one of his favorite targets. Without thinking, he fired off a snarky comment, not realizing that this time, things were about to take a turn for the worse.

The celebrity, it turned out, was none other than Satan himself, and he had had enough of Allen's insults. Seething with anger, he decided to teach the young man a lesson he would never forget.

Satan traveled to Allen's house in the dead of night, intending to cast a spell that would cause the roof to collapse on top of him. But as he approached the house, he saw that Allen's roommate was standing in the doorway, and mistook him for Allen. Without hesitation, Satan cast the spell, and the house collapsed on itself, burying the unsuspecting victim beneath the rubble.

Allen, who had gone outside to take out the trash for the next morning's pickup, witnessed the whole thing from the street. Enraged and grief-stricken, he grabbed the first thing he could find - a shovel - and charged at Satan, striking him with a single blow to the head.

As the celebrity lay bleeding out on the front lawn, Satan's powers were transferred to Allen, making him the new ruler of hell. And as he took on the mantle of Satan, he vowed to be the most vindictive and humanity-hating Satan the world had ever seen.

Welcome to the era of Allen, a time of darkness and despair, where the fires of hell burn bright and the screams of the damned echo through the void. But for Allen, it was a second chance, a chance to prove to the world that he was more than just a social outcast and internet troll. It was a chance to rule over all of creation, and to bend the very fabric of reality to his will. And as he took his place at the throne of hell, he knew that nothing would stand in his way.
