Privacy Policy

Last Updated: 28 March 2025

We take your privacy seriously. This Privacy Policy outlines how we handle your personal data when you use our services and applications. Our goal is to provide transparency regarding how we collect, use, and protect your information.

Key Points:

- No Personal Information Collected: We do not ask for or collect any personal information unless it's necessary for specific features (e.g., storage cleanup). We don’t access your files, folders, or system information without your consent.
- No Data Sharing: We do not share any personal information with third parties, nor do we use remote servers to store your data.
- No Data Storage on Our Servers: We don’t store your personal information on our servers in any form.
- Control Over Your Data: We provide you with options to control what’s visible to others, what remains private, and what can be deleted permanently.

Personal Data

Personal data refers to information that can identify an individual directly or indirectly. If we cannot link the information to you personally without unreasonable effort, it is not considered personal data.

How We Process Personal Data

1. General Usage

You can browse most of our website without providing any personal data.

2. Statistical Data

When you visit our website, our servers automatically store certain anonymized data for service delivery, statistical analysis, and security purposes. This may include data such as your browser type or domain name, but it does not allow us to identify you. This data is always collected under a pseudonym and deleted promptly after analysis.

3. Premium Content Access

If you wish to access premium content or register for events, we will request your name and email address. This information is used to provide access and send additional information on relevant products and services. You can unsubscribe at any time by clicking the link in any email.

4. Free Trials

For free product trials, we will request your name and email address to send activation codes and trial reminders. We may contact you within 14 days after the trial ends with a final reminder or purchase offer. You can opt-out at any time, and your data will be deleted unless you choose to purchase a full license.

5. Newsletters and Offers

If you subscribe to our newsletters or special offers, we will use your email address to send you information on products and services that may interest you. You can unsubscribe at any time by clicking the link in our emails.

6. Contact Forms

When you contact us using our support forms, we ask for essential contact information. This is used solely to respond to your inquiries. You may provide additional information voluntarily, and all data is processed in accordance with applicable data protection laws.

Data Protection Principles

We limit the collection and processing of personal data to the minimum necessary for service delivery. In certain cases, we use external service providers who may require access to personal data. These providers are contractually bound to follow all relevant data protection laws and access is limited to the services they provide.

Use of Cookies

We use various types of cookies to enhance your experience, including:

- User Input Cookies
- Authentication Cookies
- Third-Party Advertising Cookies
- First-Party Analytics Cookies
- Social Plug-In Tracking Cookies

You can configure your browser to block cookies or notify you when a site tries to set one. However, blocking cookies may limit some functionality on our website.

Protection of Personal Data

Personal data is stored on secured servers with restricted access. Only authorized personnel who need access to manage our website or provide technical support are granted entry. When you use in-app purchase features, the click is registered anonymously without any identifiable information. This data is used solely for technical purposes, not marketing.
