FASHION THROUGH THE DECADES

WEEKLY THEME: CUSTOM AVATAR

Each rubric will display the winning artwork on top for the reader's convenience. Both cookie and els have graded each artwork. The number scores are an average of both judge's responses. Both constructive criticism responses from both judges will be displayed on each rubric.

If you didn't place and want to see your rubric, message cookie (thelma#0550) or els (elle#3778) on discord!

Congratulations to the winners!

THEME This pertains to how well the user followed the theme.					✓
CREATIVITY Originality					✓
VALUE/SHADING Artists use value to create the illusion of a three dimensional form.					✓
CRAFTSMANSHIP Craftsmanship pertains to how clean a work of art is and how much attention to detail is made.					✓
AESTHETIC QUALITY Aesthetic quality pertains to how aesthetically pleasing the work of art is and how well the user understands the principles of art and design					✓
CONSTRUCTIVE CRITICISM Constructive criticism is a helpful way of giving feedback that provides specific, actionable suggestions. Rather than providing general advice, constructive criticism gives specific recommendations on how to make positive improvements. Please do not take constructive criticism offensively. It is meant to help you. We would never insult your art work or give any feedback with negative connotations. Also, constructive criticism is just our opinion. By no means does it mean you HAVE to make the changes we suggest to your artwork.	cookie: Wow! I love this outfit! I honestly don't have anything to critique on! I love all of the details, especially the patterns in the dress! Truly psychedelic! I think, if aaaanything, and this is me stretching to find something, I'd maybe darken the lipstick color a tiny bit or add some sort of shadows (or highlights?) to it just so it sorta differentiates from her skin tone and doesn't fall too flat! Amazing job!!! els: I absolutely LOVE this avatar you've created! The pattern on the dress and headband is so impressive and I love all the small details you added. Fantastic job! Thank you for entering and good luck for the coming weeks :)
