

The Terran Marine

You in your 7 foot tall neosteel shells, you with your rifles, roaring with supersonic death, you with not but your own skill and an inch of steel between you and your enemies, with shells, spines, and missiles flying around you, they call you a marine. The hard backbone of any Terran military, only you have the guts and the steel to take what is yours, to defend your lands from the dangers that threaten them. Go, crush your enemies, drive them before you.
