

Spirit of Gifting – Cccarpet

Min: 300 Words

Characters: Cccarpet

Ccarpet loved playing video games, be it with friends or alone, it didn't matter, as long as he enjoyed the game. Although...playing with friends was a bit more fun sometimes... He owns a lot of different game consoles and of course he often needs new games for them. And right now, it was time to go to the game store to buy some new goodies. He grabbed his bag and a list of new games which he wanted and set off to the game store. Gladly he only needed to walk around 15 minutes to the store, which wasn't long but still enough. He couldn't wait to try out the new games he's about to buy. He smiled brightly as he reached the store "Yeah. Finally. My time has come." He grinned and entered the store. Since he is a regular visitor the shop clerk waved at him "Cccarpet! Nice to see you! Did you already finish the batch you bought last month?" He asked. Cccarpet slightly nodded "Yeah...although...not completely, some aren't on 100 Percent yet, but you know...I have a lot of time." He walked over to the shop clerk. "Ooh I understand." The shop clerk nodded "But you came to the right time. We recently got some new games. There right over there." He pointed to the shops back shelves. "Thx." Ccarpet followed the way the Shop clerk showed him and came to halt before a massive shelf with lots of different games. The only other customer there was a black, red and orange yellow Cccat who slightly nodded a Hi as Cccarpet came closer. Ccarpet nodded back and putted out the list he wrote. After studying his list, he looked back at the shelf "Huh...they don't have every game I wanted to play..." He sighted slightly "...but that's ok...I'm going to come back in like two weeks and see if they have them now...at least they have the Party Game I wanted to play with Bamboo and Sagwa this evening." He then grabbed the games he could find from his list and walked back to the shop clerk. After he paid for them he returned back home and started to set everything up for his game night with Bamboo and Sagwa.