

What I aspire to be is a man is respected

I want to be able to care for the people I love

I want to be able to take my family wherever they want to go

Be able to fully pay off my parent's vehicles and buy my own

I would also love to be able to retire to my family, so they wouldn't have to

I would like to take control of my life and change the life of the people around me