- His Family (Verse Dependent)

He builds contraptions in his spare time. He's pretty resourceful, but a tad clumsy. But he's usually inventing or making things... That is, if his Robot Daughter hasn't already done it.

Bio:

Sinewave is quick to aid those who need a hand and tends to be friendly, provided he gets to know you. He however has a tendency to be a little clumsy at times. While he means well and seems friendly, he's not really the type to get close enough to others, preferring to remain alone as he doesn't always feel he fits in.

He prefers the company of a smaller group of friends, rather than a large group of people. Hence, he tends to avoid the spotlight of attention. He enjoys many different genres of music, and messing around with all sorts of gadgets and gizmos. Technology fascinates him quite a bit, so he's very quick to adapt to new types.

He's also somewhat on the more science oriented side. So he'll be messing with test tubes and chemicals at times. Adventurous and kind-hearted deep down, he'll cherish those that he's close to protecting those he cares about until the bitter end. He does tend to become a tad overprotective at times a while it may come off as annoying, though he means well. He's not that competitive. He tends to be rather shy at times however, and becomes a close ally if he warms up to you.

Relationship-wise, he's more cuddly and slightly clingy at times. He's well meaning and willing to bend backwards for the one he cares about.

Interaction Rules:

Kinks are Private as of right now, available upon request when characters reach a point where lewd is going to happen. None of them are on that DISGUSTING level though, so don't worry.

Limits (No goes, essentially): Vore, Gore, Any of those toilet kinks, anything non-consensual, anything involving bad things happening to children/cubs, Diaper, inflation, necro, etc.

No powerplaying, godmodding, or infomodding. Attacks can be rolled D&D style if preferred.

Content usually isn't dark, but you can opt out if you feel uncomfortable. Just say you want to fade or skip a scene and we shall. Fade to Black, and or set up a safe word to bypass any uncomfortable situations, shall be used if needed/requested.

Roleplays via Discord are also available. DMs are for mutuals only; OOC chat needs to be indicated correctly.

Any drama related to a roleplay because you don't like who I'm shipping with or how I'm not bending backwards to your way with how a character is 1000% perfect and wants Sine all for themselves and "Nobody else can have you." will be dropped.

True Ships are done by Chemistry. Crackships are doable too. Lewd Ships are obviously dm material.

One-shots are alright as well as just getting to "sex directly"* (*Close Mutual only)

No forcing ships. No fighting over why a ship exists or why one may not have happened for you.

If you're going to constantly flip characters, and make me restart constantly to the point that no interactions even stick (as if they don't matter.) Then I'm not interacting with you.

No trying to guilt-trip me if I unfollow you or want to stop interactions. I won't tolerate it. My life doesn't revolve around you. Grow up.

Please try to do at least more than one line. At least put enough detail to get things moving. I'm pretty lenient with things and such, but don't push it.

Time skips are available if certain things start to get too long for you.

This blog is permanently Semi-Selective with interactions anymore. This is because certain people have ruined it for the majority and I'm one of those fed up with it myself. Had too many people constantly begging then dropping one line and when I didn't say anything, their DM spammed me about why I didn't interact even after telling them to read my interaction rules.

Note: He won't ship with other males. Or anyone with a cock at that.

Note 2: Your age will be verified upon interaction for safety precautions. Sorry, but there's been a bunch of minors going around lying about this lately and I'm not falling into some trouble because of your nonsense.

Note 3: A lot of Sine's images are mainly mobian/cartoony. Just a fair warning there if you don't like that. I'm working on getting more anthro images of him.
