Palestine

Intro

integral to understand in what is generally going on in a relatively nuanced way, but it should be one of many sources used, by also critically looking at each source below

This document does not claim neutrality; instead, it aims to be objective, analytical and educating readers on the often-demonised and misunderstood Palestinian struggle. Which is 'complex' (not the complex the int community and corporate media present it to you as, but 'complex' in terms of the layers in the struggle and the perceptions of it, not the mainstream view that this is a 'conflict' where everyone is bad/or Israel is defending it self/ both commit crimes. Thus, creating a false equivalency) which requires critical reading .

Feel free to ask questions about any of the links, whether for clarification, further discussion, or to suggest additions.

Explaining the complexity briefly :

News Sources

(typically seen as/are pro-Palestinian)

Obviously read all news sources if needed, to get the generic understanding and how the media portrays certain narratives, especially ones with a pro israeli stance. But remember to read with a filter. - Reuters, The Guardian, AP news, + NPR here come with 'least' propagandistic reporting

Liberal Zionist outlets tend to have some good niche reporting- but be cautious

+972 Mag and Haaretz

- Al Jazeera/AJ+ (most reliable 24/7 comprehensive coverage, although partially funded by Qatari gov, its international reporting is praised and has key palestinian oriented coverage- goes against oriental narratives often displayed by MSM and sheds light on missed viewpoints/info ignored by MSM,)

Grassroot Movements for Palestine

Occupation

decolonial/moral + legal perspective

The occupation is understood in two forms. The first refers to the occupation that began in 1948, which is recognized by the majority of Palestinians and their public supporters. They advocate for the restoration of their land to the historic territorial boundaries established during the British Mandate period (1920–1948). This period was the first time Palestine had internationally recognized borders, defined as extending from the river to the sea. Additionally, they call for the implementation of the right of return for Palestinian refugees- who were ethnically cleansed during the Nakba

The second form is the internationally recognised occupied Palestinian territories (occupied since 1967) which is illegal under int law. The 1967 occupation (West Bank, including East Jerusalem and the Gaza Strip) is recognised by everyone regardless of their organisation and government support. – Occupied Palestinian Territories

Maps/Borders/Boundaries

When we talk about Palestine, we are not talking about a Palestinian nation state. For the vast majority of history, the concept of a nation state did not exist. Today the nation state is so ubiquitous that many have come to internalize it as natural. This is not the case, and we should be especially wary of imposing our modern conceptions on a context where they would be nonsensical. For example, the impulse to imagine our ancestors as some closed-off, well-defined, unchanging homogeneous group having exclusive ownership over a territory that somehow corresponds to modern day borders has no basis in history. Unfortunately, this is the foundational myth of many reactionary ethno-nationalist ideologies.

Occupied territories (legal perspective)

The envisioned Palestinian state, as per international consensus, is based on the pre-1967 boundaries (the 1949 Armistice lines). This includes the West Bank—East Jerusalem as its proposed capital—and the Gaza Strip, collectively referred to as the Occupied Palestinian Territories (OPTs).

However, the struggle is for a one state solution in all of historic palestine.

Settler Colonialism

- Starts in 1878
- Palestinians are not your perfect victims
- It's important to see the role of everyday Israelis and how Palestinians on a daily basis since 1948 have seen their people being replaced and erased. And the people being born and settled uphold the status quo and oppress them.

Jewish Israeli Settlements

- Since 1967, the illegal settlements in the Occupied Palestinian Territories (OPTs), particularly right now the West Bank, represents an illegal form of settler colonialism and an attempt to ethnically cleanse Palestinians from their homes (The Nakba never ended and forcible transfer of civilians a war crime). The ongoing settlement expansion upon internationally recognised Palestinian land (the Green Line, 1949), is in violation of international law.
- Each settlement are war crimes under int law.
- The settlements in the Occupied Palestinian Territories (OPTs) reflect a historical parallel that traces back to the 1800s. This familiarity with settler expansion is deeply ingrained in the minds of Palestinians and know the inevitable end result Starbucks's actions do not give a good rep like suing a worker union for standing with Palestine (10th Oct 2023) who are an internationally recognised occupied people (Gaza, West Bank+ East Jerusalem, based on a state solution, not one state historic Palestine) Gaza also being under an illegal 16-year blockade. This statement was also made a day after Israel conducted a complete siege-meaning no water, food fuel etc collectively punishing Palestinians for the actions of armed groups (war crime) (9th Oct 2023). Also Howard Schultz- Starbucks founder, 3x Chair, 2x CEO, and currently Chairman Emeritus and largest private owner of Starbucks shares worth $2.3 billion (11/2023), is a staunch Zionist with huge investments in Israel (Wiz). He was awarded "The Israel 50th Anniversary Friend of Zion Tribute Award" for his services to the apartheid state, an award Starbucks proudly displayed- a sign of complicity. Is change happening?

Main aim for us outside of occupied Palestine is to cut off our international complicity towards israel, as it's crimes are only possible because of our govs and institutions. Our govs are barely listening so we must follow the steps of the anti apartheid movement by focusing on down top approach.

- focusing on institutions and change the collective consciousness of how people think of this 'conflict'.
- By doing this, it will create the inevitable conditions for our govs to follow our lead.
- This ofc is very linear but a generic framework like this will cause social change.
- Change can be anything from governments imposing sanctions, insituions cutting ties from israel, public opinion changing, cultural boycotts and a developing anti normalisation stance.
- All integral for the national liberation of Palestine.

But, this is simply a liberal Zionist standpoint, his characterisation is merely the Netanyahu government not the majority of the political spectrum in Israel and the ones who led the country before him. Regardless, a sign of duplicitous change in efforts to desperately reform Israel by blaming its crime on a certain individual rather than acknowledge it being a state policy since its inception.

Regression/Hindrance

Always remember liberation is never a linear and simple struggle. It's never without major sacrifices rooted in periods of regression and hindrances. We can see this from historic anti colonial movements like Haiti, Algeria, Kenya. Freedom will always come with a price and the pathway towards it will be multifaceted—rooted in elements of hindrances, regression and progression (whether symbolic or material)

Zionist justification

(general criticism of the Palestinian movement and their claims)

It's justification for occupation (both forms of occupation, 1948/1967)

It's justification for apartheid

Settlements

- Security, Judea and Samaria, Jewishization, 'illegally owned' homes

It's justification for ethnic cleansing

It's the justification of arrests/killings etc
