Rosalie was walking around in her home, as she hummed slightly as she did a soft hum for a lullaby, since she had gotten off of work as a Nurse and she ended up going to the guest bedroom as she took out her key to unlock the door of the room. She saw Gracie still in the tied chair and she smirks as that's where she had left her the night before as she had tied her there last night. Once she walked over to the younger girl she had bent down to her height and had placed both her hands on her breasts as Rosie had then straddled her waist as she says to her "Now are we going to behave or am I going to have to get violent then again like last time, as I hate to." she removed her right hand for the girls breast as she used one of her nails to run across her chin before gripping it tightly to make her look at her "So let continue from last night then or am I going to leave you in this chair to continue where I left off unless you'd like to corporate." She ends up again removing her shorts as she found it pointless to let the girl wear her underwear as she then grabs the scissors from the counter to remove the top as she had also made sure she had no bra on while she ends up going to the table that was next to the girl.
