

The Relationship Between Date of Birth and Date of Death and Solar Aspects.

In a recent study I took the dates of 106 famous peoples births and the dates that they died and determined the number of degrees of separation between their suns' at the time of birth and at the time that they died. What I found replicates the studies above that show that certain critical degrees cause events to happen. A hge number of studies were done over a span of fifteen years that showed that th aspects of the 24th harmonic were statistically related to the rate of earthquakes occurring on the earth. The earthquake study definitively shows that the angles between the planets of the 24th harmonic, or every fifteen degrees, has a response in the number of earthquakes greater than 2.5 on the earth. Also the positions of the planets in relation to one another also affect the rate of storms on the sun. Several srudies by astronomers have found that the aspects of the planets not only affect the rate of storms on the sun, but also control the general climate of the earth. (See:

John Nelson in the 1950's found that the 24th angles between the planets was very critical to radio interference.

This study replicates all of the above studies as the 24th ws found to be significant in the timing of the deaths of the people in the study.

The people were selected at random at the website NNBD.

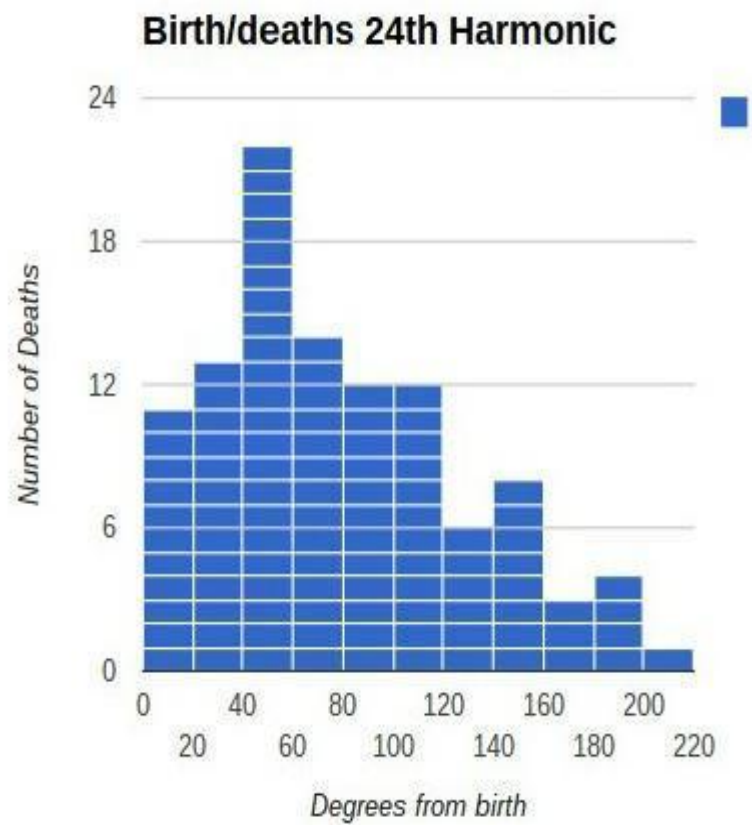

(<http://search.nndb.com/search/nndb.cgi?n=born+on+august+31st++++++&omenu=unspecified&> offset=20) This site just is a list of these events for people in history. Completely random. I took the birth positions of the sun and the sun positions and death and determined the approximate number of degrees between them.

What the study found was that 46% of the people died plus or minus two degrees of the critical degrees of the 24th harmonic. The expected number was 33%. This is astronomically significant when we consider that this study replicates the results of the earthquake studies, the work of Colorado University and others who have found that there is a complex interaction with the harmonic positioning of the planets and the climate of the earth and the storms on the sun.

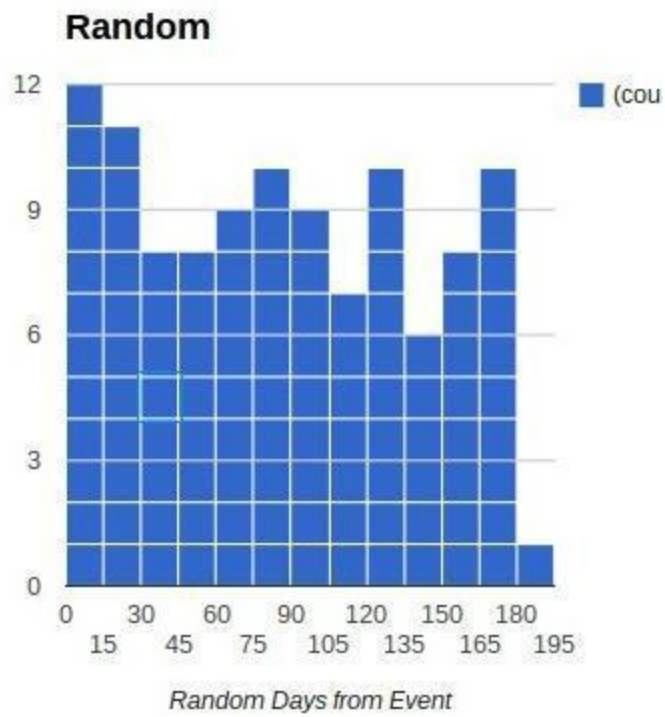

The results for the births and deaths were compared to a randomly generated numbers of the same order and the results of the random numbers course were completely devoid of any relationship with the 24th harmonic. . The distribution of the deaths is also highly structured as can be seen in the chart below. There is a definite peak at 60 degrees, which replicates the results of the study above that shows that accidents occur more frequently about 60 days, or degrees after a person's birthday.

The random shows no such peak:

The days from critical are also highly structured. There is a beat pattern of 2 and 7 days. The seven day beat is explained by the harmonics of the 48th harmonic.

Considering the completely random nature of the birth and death data the fact that there is a plain statistical correlation between the dates that the people died and the the position of the sun on the day of death this is extremely revealing. The fact that the deaths of these 106 famous people from history died under the same set of harmonics as those that cause earthquakes, disturbances in the electrical field of the earth and storms on the sun is proof that these forces exist and affect people.

The correlation with the day a person is born must have to do with how the DNA and the bodily vibrations were initialized when the infant was born. Just as computer is initialized by it's base program and it's hard wired programming, so too a persons' body is programmed by the vibrations it receives via the interplanetary matrix. The cyclic nature of the planets makes time cyclic on the earth. The reason why this is a survival technique is that the electromagnetic and vibrational nature of the earth is constantly changing and whether we know if or not it must be vital to our survival to adapt to it's changing conditions. In fact we know that perils from space are a constant source of extinctions and vast climate changes. A life form that would be sensitive to the vibrations coming from space would be better equipped to survive than any being that did not concern itself with them. The ability to attune it's rythmes to the planets would be able to predict future changes coming, whether this was conscious, or not. In man this ability is greatly attenuated, but there are many, many reports of animals heading to higher ground before a tsunami, or other abnormal behavior before an earthquake, or storm.

When I started my study of astrology I did it disprove it. I tried for a great many years to do this. I would have been prepared to show that there was nothing to the planetary influences if the earthquake studies proved to be false, by in total tens of thousands of earthquakes were studied and the correlation between the rate of earthquakes greater than 2.5 and the planetary aspects of the 24th harmonic held strong. So, I could no longer deny this strange facet of nature. The fact that was also found to correlate with those people deaths is even more astonishing. Mind boggling and a little scary in it's implications. I have approached astrology as a skeptic and I have done many thousands of horoscopes and watched the world unfold in front of me. The anecdotal data piled up until it became a mountain whose top was in the clouds, but anecdotal data is not proof. This is proof. These modern findings by myself and a growing number of other scientists who look at the working of the sun and planets has no contradictions. The results of all these studies is perfectly correlated and self replicating and is the basic forces of nature at work.
