Any other thoughts you have on your current situation and what you need to work on:

- I'm so slow while creating this website, at first I used to follow a wordpress tutorial and create the website in one time and it was going great, today a G sent me a platform to create a website using AI, and it took me the first GWS overthinking s*ht while acting in one time, second GWS I figured out how to use the platform, third GWS I was creating the website and overthinking everything while doing, but despite all that since the beginning of the rainmaker challenge I've been really slow for some reason even tho I max out time, I don't do garbage sh*t, I literally just work and somehow is slow, this might be the time for a root cause analysis tomorrow
