

Hogwarts Werewolves - Undecided, NV

Setting Information

When Undecided was founded, the leaders were pushed into promptly filling out the proper paperwork for establishing the town and the name of the town was up for debate, so under name they put "Undecided." Bureaucracy being what it is, they shortly got back documents declaring the town of Undecided legally established. As people actually started moving to Undecided and lots were being built upon, the local government sent out a survey to the school children of the town to RE-NAME AND RE-VAMP THE TOWN! So naturally they renamed it... "Undecided".

Undecided is located on the outskirts of a desert near an oasis surrounding a lake that is now home to the campgrounds for the Axolotl Scouts. Despite it's arid climate, winter sports prevail and the Curling/Hockey arena, owned by one of the founding families of the town, the old Fucking Family, is a favorite hang out spot for the locals.

Besides the Fucking Family, the most powerful and notable person in town is Mr. Tim Allen Sequel who owns the cheese and cactus warehouse on the outskirts of town next to the Mostly Non-Toxic™ Waste Disposal site that destroyed the last Axolotl scout headquarters in a mudslide several years ago. Rumors prevail that Tim Allen had something to do with the mass extinction of the local livestock; however, there is no real evidence to say he was involved... and these aren't the only troubles to plague the town.

Setting Touchstones

The Santa Clause (Film), Home Improvement (TV Show), Hilda (Netflix Show), Gravity Falls (TV Show), The Mighty Ducks (Film)

Possible Points of Interest:

- Fucking Family Curling Club: Mr. Fucking of the Old Fucking Family is super into Penguin Farming and uses them as mascots for both the curling and hockey team. The adults insist the funky odor is simply coming from the constant supply of fish and penguin poop, but the kids believe there's something more mysterious going on. A few years ago the Captain of the Fuckers Curling Team died nearby one of the statues in town, though which statue it is changes in every retelling, the Sheriff insisits it was the Peach. It was ruled an accidental death as alcohol was found in his system and police assumed the Captain simply overindulged, but rumors fly around that kids have seen the Captain around town at night sometimes, looking at all the statues...
- The Axolotl Scout Headquarters and Campgrounds: Home of the Christmas in June Festival, where the Axolotl Scouts host a toy drive and decorate the campsite for Christmas and donate toys to underprivileged kids. There is a little known Peach Statue hidden in the back woods that no one is certain where it came from or who made it, but the teenage camp counselors sneak out to go drinking by the statue in the woods in the evenings. Some say they've seen it move... Unfortunately, the Scout Campgrounds aren't the safest in the world, in fact, the Lake has a number of mysterious drownings on record at a rate four times higher than many coastal towns. Nobody knows why the rates are so high but the Axolotl scouts tell stories of different monsters attacking kids as they swim - Sewie, the town's famous Sewer Axolotl is brought up most often. If the kids aren't taken by monsters in the water, some have been wiped out from falling bricks from the overhead collapsing bridge.

- Sequel Industry Warehouse: Owner Tim Allen Sequel is rumored to have created the Mostly Non-Toxic™ Waste Disposal site by disposing of uranium in a lake to wipe out the dairy industry so he could buy the land cheap and build up his warehouse. There was a mass near extinction of the livestock in town, but some people have claimed to see mutated animals wandering the area. Several years ago, there was a terrible mudslide that destroyed the old Axolotl Scouts building that was located by the now Mostly Non-Toxic™ lake, so they were forced to relocate to The Axolotl Scout Headquarters and Campgrounds. Tim Allen runs a Cheese Factory and Cactus Farm out of the warehouse and there are rumors he's been experimenting in the basement. How does he make cheese without cows? No one is sure... There's a mysterious, and huge, TriGoat obelisk - I mean statue - set inside the warehouse that existed decades before the warehouse was built. Rumor has it that Tim Allen attempted to destroy the statue, but was unsuccessful so was forced to build around it.
- Very Appropriate HealthCare: Located next to the Old Chuck E. Cheese with a weird Giant Metal Chicken Statue out front, this free clinic is best known for its incredible free healthcare, its free (week old) donated Chuck E. Cheese Pizza, and its mysterious glow at night. The building is in a constant state of disrepair, which the adults in town claim is just the cost of free healthcare in a shitty healthcare country, but the kids aren't so sure and they believe someone or something is coming in at night to make a mess of things.
- June's Junkyard: Kids often hang out here to break car windows, but never dare stay after dark. They say June's Junkyard is haunted by the ghost of a kid who was dared to go there at night and was the victim of a prank gone wrong, but no one knows their name because it was covered up immediately. They say the whole town is in on it, probably because the leader of the kids who caused the accident is the child of someone important who has the whole town in their pockets. Most people assume it was one of the old Fucking Family kids, but recently rumors have started that Tim Allen was the leader.

Possible Monsters

- Sewie the Sewer Axolotl: Sewie is a large Axolotl that is rumored to have lived in the sewers of Undecided for centuries (despite the town not being that old). Do they now haunt the lake drowning innocent campers or could they be to blame for the strange smell in the Fucking Family Curling Club?

- Living Statue: A few years ago, the Captain of the Fuckers Curling Team's body was found beside the Peach Statue. His spirit went into the statue and he now dreams of turning other kids into statues too so he can have people to hang out with again.
- Tim Allen: The monsters in Undecided are scary, but Tim Allen is something else. When he was a boy, he accidentally got a kid killed at the junkyard, he irradiated the waste pile killing all the livestock, he might have killed Santa, and he's extremely conservative and anti-free healthcare so sneaks into Very Appropriate Healthcare at night to destroy the place with power tools.
- Cactus Monster: Created by Tim Allen during a magical ritual and embodied with the spirit of the child who died in the junkyard, the Cactus Monster is mostly just scared and doesn't know what happened to it.
- Pizza Rat: Most likely originating from the Chuck E. Cheese, this rat has grown to monstrous sizes thanks to the Mostly Non-Toxic™ Waste Disposal site.

Alternative Options

Below are some of the unused or altered options for Undecided that could easily replace the options we chose as well as a full list of notable locations. Full submissions with their associated players can be seen on the "Hometown Background" tab of the 🇺🇸 Kids on Bikes Master Sheet.

Setting Information

- Undecided is located in Antarctica and the primary industry is Penguin Farming.
- Undecided is located in the North Pole right next to Santa's workshop! The Elves created Elves Anonymous so they can have a safe place to talk... and possibly discuss the recent murder of Santa by the infamous Tim Allen.
- Undecided is renamed Krypton and located in India. It's famous for it's Three headed Goat Statue aka TriGoat, but have a stubborn rate of crime... possibly due to the insane numbers of monsters that dwell there, but luckily the Monster Slayer Organization (MSO) is there to protect the town.
- Undecided is located in Wisconsin and, until recently, had thriving dairy farms and a particular type of cheese that glows in the dark. The feds keep trying to ban it saying you shouldn't crust cheese in uranium, but have thus far been unsuccessful. The town is run by a democracy of sorts... They have a Mayor and a city council, but the city council was made up of the cheesery CEO, CFO, COO, and legal council, plus two employees of the local hospital. Unfortunately recently something strange has happened that led to the mass extinction of all the livestock, the death of the cheese industry, and the partial collapse of the cheese industry reliant government... suspiciously the economy is now reliant on the Warehouse of one of the kid's dad (Tim Allen?).

- Undecided is renamed Arkham and located in Massachusetts. It's known for Miskatonic University, Arkham Sanitarium, Arkham Historical Society, and the Graveyard...please don't sue us.
- Undecided wasn't the first town built in it's location....either that or record keeping used to be very bad, since old building foundations not in the town records occasionally pop up when new construction happens.
- Undecided is a fishing town in America but unfortunately the economy is floundering (bada bums). Rates of drownings in the town are 4x higher than other coastal towns.

Possible Points of Interest:

- There is a rumor that Nehru museum is haunted
- They say June's Junkyard is haunted by the ghost of a kid who was dared to go there at night and was victim of a prank gone wrong, but no one knows their name because it was covered up immediately. They say the whole town is in on it, probably because the leader of the kids who caused the accident is the child of an important adult who's got the whole town in their pockets.
- There's a medical student at the university who is stealing bodies from graves and reanimating them in an old farmhouse
- The manmade mountain outside of town where all the kids go to explore caves is actually home to monsters who used to be normal kids until they spent too much time swimming in the uranium sludge pit.
- The school had a drugs lab in the basement

Possible NPCs:

- The school nurse is secretly an international spy who killed a crime ring and has come to the town to hide

Notable Locations:

- Arkham Historical Society
- Arkham Sanitarium

- Atlantis Arcade
- The Axolotl Scout Headquarters and Campgrounds
- Bhagat Bakery
- The big metal chicken statue
- The Cactus Fields
- Chandni Temple
- The Church of Barney the Dinosaur
- City Mart Mall
 - The mini mart
- Clearing Up In The Forest Where The Intergalactic Communication Device Made Of Trash Is
- The collapsing bridge
- Cricket pitch (preferably in the arctic... gasp!)
- Crusoe Free Library
- DICKS - The Department of Internal Clinical Knife Surgery. This is the regulatory board of internal surgeons.
- Dizzy Dingle's Ice Cream Shop
- Gandhi Joke Shop
- The giant 🍑 statue
- Graveyard
- Gulliver's Gymnasium
- The Haunted Lighthouse
- Hockey rink
 - Indoor stadium/gymnasium (ice rink for hockey & curling, swimming pool, track, basketball court, etc)
- Isquash's squash stand
- June's Junkyard
 - Junkyard For Breaking Car Windows
- The Mostly Non-Toxic™ Waste Disposal Dump and Mudslide Ruins
- Mount Melon (not really a mountain, just a big hill that looks like a melon on the horizon)
 - The weird man made mountain with a cave in it over just a mile out of town
- Military Research Complex With The Hole In The Chain Link Fence
- Miskatonic University
- Nehru Museum
- The old haunted abandoned mine
 - The new mine with the asshole owner
- Old Pirate Ship That's . . . Buried Underground?
- Ordway High School
- Pete's Pancake Shoppe. It's a gas station.
- Prickly Papa's Pop Shoppe, a soda shop for rebellious teens
- Prospero Pizzeria
- Quarry That We Throw Rocks In
- R'lyeh Juice Bar
- The run down and abandoned armory filled to the brim with weapons still

- The Salvation Navy
- Santa's workshop
- Sewers Where We Can All Float
- Three headed Goat Statue aka TriGoat...
- The tree, the flag pole, and the Hole
- [Undecided] Park
- Uranium sludge pit
 - A seemingly bottomless lake that isn't safe to drink from due to the uranium in it.
- Very Appropriate Healthcare, the free clinic
- The very basic diner with amazing eggs
- Wooded Park That Has Sixteen Awesome Tree Houses
- Yon Fish'nchippery
- Your mom's house