

Perfume Materials of France

III

Perfume Materials of France showcases the very best of France's fragrance industry. Fragrances have a wide range of aromatic interpretations. Many floral formulas are based on jasmine, rose and violet materials. Mixing the scents is similar to blending the primary colors of red, green and blue. In order to finish a perfume composition one can select a great variety of ingredients, which like the colours helps to round off a finished scent. My books help to serve as a source for the pallet of odours available to the artist today. Each ingredient in turn helps to make each formula uniquely different. Knowing what's available helps to increase the probability of creating something pleasing yet ingenious.

My book titled the Perfume Materials of France is a mini journey through the world of fragrance ingredients. Collecting the information has been a passion. I enjoy the art and my internet site as a hobby. Fragrance has been described as one of the highest art forms of the senses. The book helps to display the material availability of a secretive industry that only a few enjoy as an art. Conversely in order to understand and create a complex formula one needs to know a wide range of aromatic materials.

It is my hope that you will enjoy utilizing my reference manuscripts in your work, and find new ideas and possibilities with each viewing. Due to recent regulatory hysteria much of the choice information that appears in this manuscript is in danger of disappearing forever.
