I would say happy-Friday, but um... pretty sure about ¾ of America is not too happy today. I... would prefer not to get all political one way or another in this post. I'll say this - good and bad leaders always come and go, but the people who make the nation what it is, what it can be - they are far more permanent. Those people - all of you - are the ones who ultimately shape the fate of the world.

Hey guys, sorry I missed last week. Been working and such while trying to make due this this stupid hip problem. I hope everyone is doing well.

💖 Fur-In-Need 💖

KampfWolf: Yes... one of our own is in need of some help right now. :(In weeks past Kampf has been a HUGE help in getting things linked and tagged in the Paw-Post, but then he had some major medical stuff go awry. Simply put, he's having some major problems with his hip, and it's causing him to miss a lot of work. Having only recently gone through the process of my mate getting her hip replaced in 2014... I know how debilitating hip problems can be. Kampf posted a journal (<https://www.furaffinity.net/journal/8038107/>) explaining more about it. He's looking for some help in commissions when he's available, or donations if anyone can be so kind as to help out until things normalize again. Please consider helping if you can.

TC's Random Music Pick

Nine Inch Nails - "Bite The Hand That Feeds" - 2005

One of many, many appropriate songs for this particular day as the US swears in what is likely to be the worst president they have ever had. Interestingly enough, this song does have a presidential link of sorts. When Nine Inch Nails was touring and playing this album, they were supposed to do a live show for MTV, and the backdrop was a giant picture of George W. Bush. MTV pulled the spot out of concerns at the protest-display, and Trent Reznor's words (lead singer and brains behind NIN) were brilliant "Apparently, MTV is as offended by a picture of our president as I am." Hurr. Anyway, great song. Hang in there US - we still love ya.

VampireKitty's Random Music Pick

Muse - "Uprising" - 2009

I don't always listen to the radio, but when I do it's usually a station that plays almost nothing past 2011, because we all know that's where we left all the music that wasn't mind-numbingly dull. Seriously, I forgot there were songs I liked in 2016 the year felt so long and I don't remember 2015 being much better. Anyway back on topic. :D sometimes I'm reminded of truly awesome songs I completely forgot about, so here you go!

Rylae's Random Music Pick

Hybrid - Dogstar "2011" \(?\)

This was a song that I actually only heard a 30-ish second snippet of it. After I heard it the first time I actually had a hell of a time finding the song itself from various youtube or google searches. There is also an instrumental version if one desires that as well! :)

Look at Dorey's eyes and that cute blush. That face totally sums up the happy moment of being able to enjoy a sexy set of toes on a freely offered paw. It's a dreamy, awesome moment for any paw-lover, and Dorey's face easily convinces one of just what it means.

Personal Summary:

Hello! Im Sebafox and i really like to draw cute furry stuff and big pawfeet hehee, i am really happy to see that there are people out there that support this thing i started doing so long ago just for fun, i am really thankful for all the people that support me and comment and watch my gallery, i will use this opportunity too to say this! follow your dream! even if no one seems to care or notice what you do, if your doing stuff because you have a passion for that it will make you happy anyways! and eventually people will start noticing the passion you put on your work just don't give up! be happy with it and never surrender!

Comment Preferences:

I looove receiving positive comments, it makes me feel appreciated about what i do and that's always super nice, but i always love the less positive comments, it helps you to improve! just people please don't be rude about it! We all have to be polite and everything will work out for everyone!.

Well... if i have to say, i hate stupid comments... i mean if you don't like the nature of the pic... what are you even doing there...? i mean i have received people commenting on how they hate footpaws and how i should stop drawing that... that is kinda silly, i mean noone is forcing you to watch something you don't like, so please avoid commenting that.

Some Q&As:

(TC) Hi Sebafox! Thank you for agreeing to do an interview with us! You are certainly an artist that stands out as being rather foot/footpaw centric. Did you always draw stuff that way, or did your work start leaning that way over time?

(Sebafox) Hi there!, Its nice to find that there are people interested that much into what i do man. Thanks for the opportunity. About the question, i started drawing very different stuff to be honest, my dad was into comics and back then i had a ton of european comics lying around, and i spent a lot of time drawing like in the comics, fantasy stuff and science fiction, at first i used to draw science gadgets and wizards and monsters. Nothing foot related at all, but then i kinda wanted to try drawing it, i have always liked feet, ever since i was a little child, there was something really appealing about em to me, so i tried drawing that and uploaded it, and i got nice feedback! Something i would have never thought i would receive, so that kinda gave me motivation about keeping up with what i like, and you can see that in what i upload i think.

(TC) Neat! I like that feet are something you've always loved and it was the positive reception of them being in your art that helped inspire you to draw more of them. :) Heh - that also kind of answers what I was going to ask next, which is if you liked feet personally. So... maybe a bit more clarification - you said you've liked feet since you were a child - about how far back can you remember you did? (I was 4 years old when I first remember liking them).

(Sebafox) Well... I really prefer human-like feet. Don't get me wrong i kinda like paws too but personally, i'm on the human feet side :).

(TC) Would you say you have preferences - say, liking female feet more than male, or do you have strict standards of what is or isn't attractive?

(Sebafox) I like both male and females, though i must admit male feet seem more appealing to me, maybe because they are bigger or something? Never really stopped thinking about that tbh, but yeah in terms of footpaws i prefer males :), but in general terms, females and males can both be very sexy and attractive.

(TC) With footpaws (IE, furry art) I'm pretty 50/50. With humans, I prefer females - I've always found them to have consistently nicer-shaped feet. Do you have the male preference for humans as well?

(Sebafox) Indeed. I prefer the males in that aspect, they seem to be bigger and stronger looking, meatier?. I don't know, i just like em., it's true that female feet have nicer shapes most of the time, but there's something about the size and shape that makes me prefer males.

(TC) Interesting - think that's the first time we've had that answer! Alright, so with your art, you draw a lot of human style feet, (C1 by our class system) but from time to time you draw some other classes of paws too with pads, fur, different toe placement and such - do you have a favourite style (or even species) to draw? Why is that?

(Sebafox) Yeah i love drawing dogs! They are the best, dogs are so cute and fun so it's always nice when people ask me to draw dog paws because i love drawing dogs and canines, now for paws... I like feline paws, they are super cute and soft. it's always a pleasure for me to draw cute stuff after all :) i hope this answers the question :)

(TC) Awww... yes, that answers it very cutely. XD A lot of your pictures are macro type ones - is that one of your favourite themes to draw for paw-stuff, or is it something else?

(Sebafox) Welp yeah. I think i have started drawing macro related content from way before i got into foot stuff. I used to watch a lot of godzilla and gamera movies with my dad when i was a kid, i loved pretending i was godzilla rampaging in the city! So i got into the whole japanese giant monster genre and started drawing that for fun!. So i have been always very fond of the macro theme, giants stomping the city specially, all that energy and strength and chaos. i just love it :) man... I miss my godzilla movies now ... though my dad always paid the price when we played (after all godzilla always win!). and when you mix the macro scenarios with footpaws you only get awesome (in my book at least), so yeah... that's why that theme shows in my work so much :)

(TC) YES! Godzilla was a big reason I got into non-human feet too - so stompy and fun, and nice variations of paws. And agreed - making the footpaws a central part of a macro theme is really fun - one of my favourites is a benevolent macro who's letting a micro (or several) enjoy his (or her) big feet. :3 So... would you say macro commissions are one of your favourite kinds of art to do?

(Sebafox) Of course macro themed commissions are my favorite! It all started really when i joined furaffinity in 2008... wow it's been a while, anyways, i started drawing cute anime style character, with kemono proportions and then some day i decided to give the macro theme that i always liked a try, it got the attention of beherit, i don't know if you know him, he is in fa and draw macro stuff too, he is an awesome artist and he gave me some really awesome motivational words back then that really got me into drawing more, not only macro things but art in general, i mean, back then i never even thought i might get even slightly popular on the site, i just used to draw whatever came to my mind and most people didn't even seem to care about what i did, but then again, when you draw stuff because you like em and not because you get the attention of people, you start naturally and progressively getting better, you don't even notice! Wow sorry i kinda got derailed back there XD. But yeah, i really really really like drawing macro themed pictures and growth, and if it involves huge paws! what's not to love there!

(TC) Ahhh, yes I know of Benherit - another artist we need to highlight for sure. I think it's important you stuck to what you like; a find a lot of artists burn out on trying to draw things they're not much into. So, quick topic switch since at this point the interview was interrupted by our busy days - you said you worked at a clinic? What is it you do in real life?

(sebafox) I am a pharmacist, hahaha... sorry if i had to bring that out. But yeah, i work on that irl, so its hard for me sometimes to come with new art as often as i would like, i think that would explain those periods when im kinda absent . but yeah! drawing helps me relax and keep up with a healthy routine! or at least i think so! xP. Anyways, i hope that answers the question :)

(TC) It does, yes! And that's neat. :) So for now, the furry art is more of a de-stressing hobby?

(Sebafox) Yes!, it's my hobby, drawing makes me happy and helps me de-stress as you said, sometimes i would like to have more time for my art so i can improve more or start using more tools to get better pics done, but that's life you know!. Drawing though have helped me through my university years and work shifts!, i guess i should be thankful to have a hobby that makes other people happy as it makes me happy! so i don't really have anything to complain about :)

(TC) That's such a great, uplifting take on it. ^_^ Alright, before we wrap up, are there any questions you have for me about the Paw-Post, paws in general, or.... whatever?

(Sebafox) Hahaha kinda! i wonder why you started this project! i think it's really cool.

(TC) Well, it started originally as an e-mail for a friend who was having trouble keeping up with good paw pics because of his schedule. Then another friend wanted to be on the list, then another. So I asked them if they thought it might be something that others would enjoy if I did it publicly, and... the rest is history. It went public in 2014, and has grown ever since into the new blog that it is now. :) Any other questions?

(Sebafox) Not really :) i just find super fascinating that the fandom is super nice (usually), feels like a big family!

(TC) That it does. And I'm glad folks enjoy this and getting to read about interesting folks like you. So, in parting, is there anything you would like to say to the folks reading this interview?

(Sebafox) That i'm thankful for everyone's support and that i will try to keep the art coming, just excuse me for not uploading as often as i used to and pleaaaseeeee excuse my bad english! yo hablo español XP.

Thank you very much Sebafox! Especially with being patient with a crazy work week schedule on my part that didn't exactly make the interview easy. XD Go check out Sebafox's gallery (it is mega huge) and enjoy enough feet to keep you busy all night! Everyone have yourselves a good weekend - we'll see you again next Friday. :)
