

Below are some of the camps I have seen advertised on Facebook during the strike. These are all local businesses trying to support teachers during the strike. I don't endorse any of them, but appreciate that they are all helping out our community. And remember to take your kids to walk the picket lines before camp, if you are able.

Option 1: coordinate with other parents at your school. It takes a village! Send out an email to your class and volunteer to rotate who will host the kids at their house each day.
