

Captain Seth Hopp

“My main role was to captain the Sentimental Journey along with the owner Captain Dave Magnone. We would take four hour shifts and at times would both be awake talking as we moved at a steady two knots through the night. Captain Dave is a truly wonderful individual who helped keep me going in the middle of the night. When everyone was asleep I would crave some sort of chatter on the VHF just to have something to listen to. Looking over to Diana and the red lights hanging from the Voyager and the small splashes from her endless strokes kept me thinking and pushing forward.”
