We, the undersigned, are committed to promoting and upholding best practice to address incidents of sexual assault or harassment and to ensuring that our festivals are safe and inclusive spaces.

We are reaffirming our commitment to taking the following steps to deliver a safe environment for audiences, performers, and workforce:

1. Every allegation of sexual assault or harassment will be taken seriously by event organisers, who will take a survivor-led approach that is underpinned by policies, procedures, and training. Where relevant, we will work with appropriate authorities to ensure that the survivor's complaint is acted upon promptly and investigated.

2. We have specific policies and procedures in place for addressing sexual assault and harassment onsite. These policies are clearly available on our websites and communicated to audiences, staff, contractors, and artists pre-show and where relevant, during the event. These are supplemented by clear, robust reporting and disclosure procedures including how to report incidents onsite and post event. This also includes relevant health guidance and connections to local services such as local Rape Crisis centres, sexual assault, and referral centres (SARCs) and appropriate aftercare services.

3. We will actively promote the principle of consent regarding sexual activity onsite at our events. Consent is defined as someone engaging in sexual activity if they agree by choice, and they have the freedom and capacity to make that choice. Consent can be revoked at any time.

4. We commit to providing training for staff and volunteers on both how to proactively monitor for and deal with incidents of sexual assault and harassment. Training will be provided in these areas and delivered by specialist providers where relevant: prevention, reporting procedure, victim support and awareness. We will ensure that relevant staff are equipped to proactively support survivors.
