Let's put together a great silent auction!

Our most important fundraising event of the year happens during the fall musical, and your help is key. Let's put together an irresistible collection of silent auction offerings. Maybe you have season tickets you know you can't use, gift cards collecting dust, or items that would make a great gift basket. Know a business or organization that might support NC Theatre and TOPPS through a sellable donation? Everything you need to know is in this handy silent auction toolkit. Help us score some great donations for our biggest fundraiser of the year.

DID YOU KNOW?

Money raised by the Theatre Organization of Panther Parents provides meals for our students on their long rehearsal days, supports community-building activities, and funds scholarships for our seniors who intend to pursue performing arts degrees after high school. Last year we were able to provide $6,200 in scholarships. Let's continue to reach for the stars!

WHAT'S KEY TO A SUCCESSFUL SHOW?

(It's not just talent...)

There are over 100 opportunities to VOLUNTEER to help out with Freaky Friday. Whether you'd like to sell concessions, manage the silent auction table, or offer some cash toward tech week meals, there's a way for everyone to help. Plus, it's so fun to be a part of the magic. Get involved - sign up through the link.

And thank you!

Stay Informed and Get Involved!

There are many ways to support students involved in theatre. From making donations for our silent auction during musical season to assisting with food and decor at awards night, to pulling out a paintbrush to help with set builds, there really is something for everyone! Reach out to Emily Hughey at toppspresident@gmail.com for more information, or take our parent interest survey.

Love to support the NC Theatre Program and build up your favorite dramatic teen? We're not shy about asking for support. DONATE anytime!
