A Heritage of Prayer in Our Nation

This year holds special significance as America marks 250 years since the signing of the Declaration of Independence. As we celebrate this milestone, we remember that prayer has held deep significance for us as a nation, and we follow in our Founding Fathers' footsteps and seek God's wisdom when faced with critical decisions. This is a call for us to humbly come before God and seek His guidance and grace for our individual lives, our families, our communities, and our nation. The Apostle Paul offers us this encouragement:

"Be anxious for nothing, but in everything by prayer and supplication, with thanksgiving, let your requests be made known to God; and the peace of God, which surpasses all understanding, will guard your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus." — Philippians 4:6-7

Early Americans knew God's Word and understood the power of prayer. Their letters and diaries reveal that they regularly prayed for wise leaders who would protect the people's rights, for strength to fulfill their duties well, and for wisdom to raise children who would honor God and become good citizens. Prayer is woven into the very fabric of our nation's heritage.

Public Prayer

In 1775, the Continental Congress asked the colonists to pray for wisdom as they discussed the birth of a new nation. This call to prayer has continued throughout our history, including President Lincoln's proclamation of a day of "humiliation, fasting, and prayer" in 1863.

In 1952, Congress passed a joint resolution that President Truman signed declaring an annual National Day of Prayer.

A few decades later, the Supreme Court affirmed the right of state legislatures to open their sessions with prayer in Marsh v. Chambers (1983). There have been more than 1,500 state and federal calls for national prayer since 1775.

Homeschoolers Pray

Just as early Americans sought God in prayer concerning private and public matters, we as homeschoolers must seek God as we face challenging times in our nation and homes. This year, the National Homeschool Day of Prayer falls just three days after the November 3 midterm elections, a timely reminder to pray for those newly elected and for all who serve in public office.

God has richly blessed homeschoolers in America, giving us the freedom to raise and teach our children according to our convictions. But this freedom doesn't come with a lifetime guarantee. It was fought for and prayed for by courageous pioneer homeschoolers, and keeping it will require continued vigilance on our part. Let us follow in their footsteps as we continue to pray for and protect homeschool freedom across our nation.

As homeschoolers, we fill many different roles in our families, churches, and communities. The responsibilities can feel overwhelming. Paul tells us in Romans 12:12, "Rejoice in hope, be patient in tribulation, be constant in prayer."

God hears our prayers for our families and children, and He is faithful and merciful.

The Homeschool Community Prays

Homeschoolers may be known for their individuality, but we know how to come together to support, protect, and pray for what matters most!

Join us Friday, November 6, 2026 as we pray for homeschooling across North America and around the globe. Prayer is powerful! Don't miss this significant event.

Why Your Family and Our Nation Need the National Homeschool Day of Prayer

Join us Friday, November 6, 2026

We live in challenging times. This year, the National Homeschool Day of Prayer falls just three days after the midterm elections, and our nation needs prayer for unity, healing, and wise leadership. Many state legislatures continue to consider laws that could seriously restrict homeschool freedom. And in our own homes, we face daily struggles—whether it's mediating sibling squabbles while explaining fractions or realizing there's nothing in the crockpot for dinner.

Homeschooling is a noble calling, but it's also one of the most challenging journeys we'll ever take. That's why we need to remember that we were never meant to walk this road alone.

We need each other! And we need to set aside time to pray for each other, our families, and our nation. Prayer is woven into the very fabric of our nation's heritage—from our Founding Fathers seeking God's wisdom as they formed a new nation 250 years ago to President Lincoln proclaiming days of prayer during our darkest hours. As a homeschooling community, we carry on this legacy through the National Homeschool Day of Prayer.

The Power of Prayer in Your Homeschool

Prayer changes things—not just circumstances, but us. It realigns our hearts and reminds us that the Holy Spirit is our ultimate teacher and counselor. And that God is always on His throne.

"Be anxious for nothing, but in everything by prayer and supplication, with thanksgiving, let your requests be made known to God; and the peace of God, which surpasses all understanding, will guard your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus." — Philippians 4:6-7

Your Private Prayers Matter

Your individual prayers are powerful. Those early morning moments when you pour out your heart about your struggling reader. Those tearful prayers when you wonder if you're messing this up. Those grateful prayers when you witness a breakthrough.

God hears every whispered plea, every desperate cry for wisdom. This is where transformation begins—not in your child's heart, but in yours.

The Strength of Praying Together

Here's what makes the National Homeschool Day of Prayer so special: there's incredible power when God's people pray together.

Jesus said, "For where two or three have gathered together in My name, I am there in their midst" (Matthew 18:20). On November 6, thousands of homeschool families will be lifting up the same prayers.

When you feel isolated, corporate prayer connects you to families who understand your struggles and share your victories. Your prayers for homeschool freedom benefit my family. My prayers for wisdom lift up yours. Together, we create a powerful spiritual force.

God Sees You

God sees the late nights of lesson preparation, the sacrifices you make for your children, the character you're building, and the faith you're modeling.

He called you to this—not because you're the most organized or qualified, but because you're exactly the parent your children need. He promises to equip you for everything He's called you to do. He also calls us to pray for each other and our nation.

The key? Stay connected to Him through prayer—both privately and together with other believers.

Your Invitation to Join Us

Set aside November 6, 2026, as a day to intentionally seek God for your homeschool, your family, and homeschool freedom.

Start with your own heart. Take time for personal prayer. Pour out your concerns, gratitude, needs, and dreams to God.

Then join the community. Follow the hourly prayer prompts on the Homeschool Freedom Facebook page starting at 10:00 AM ET, and hear from statewide homeschool leaders who will be praying with us throughout the day. Experience the power of corporate prayer in a fresh way.

Make it meaningful for your whole family. Download the free activity guide packed with activities, prayer prompt worksheets, coloring pages, and discussion questions.

Throughout the day, we'll pray for 13 topics: gratitude, wisdom, growth, protection, creativity, perseverance, our nation, generosity, elected officials, provision, statewide homeschool organizations, community, and freedom.

Connect With Your Statewide Homeschool Organization

Your statewide homeschool organization is a trusted source of accurate information about homeschooling where you live. [\[Insert Your Organization Name\]](#) has been serving homeschool families in [\[State/Province\]](#) since [\[year\]](#), answering questions, providing resources, and working to protect your freedom to homeschool. Visit [\[your website\]](#) to learn more and get connected.

Prayer Changes Lives and Nations

Imagine what could happen if thousands of homeschool families committed to a day of focused prayer. Spiritual breakthroughs. Renewed vision. Restored peace.

Our children are watching us prioritize prayer and learning that God is trustworthy and deeply interested in their lives.

When we pray—individually and together—we acknowledge God's presence in our homeschools and our families. We also acknowledge that He is One who holds the welfare of our nation in His hands. As Charles Spurgeon reminds us, "The presence of Jesus confers success."

"Rejoice in hope, be patient in tribulation, be constant in prayer." Romans 12:12

Will you join us Friday, November 6, 2026?
