Visa

Once you arrive in Taiwan, you will need to ensure you have a valid Visa status, depending on how long your stay period is and what type of Visa you have.

It is your responsibility to maintain your Visa status in Taiwan.

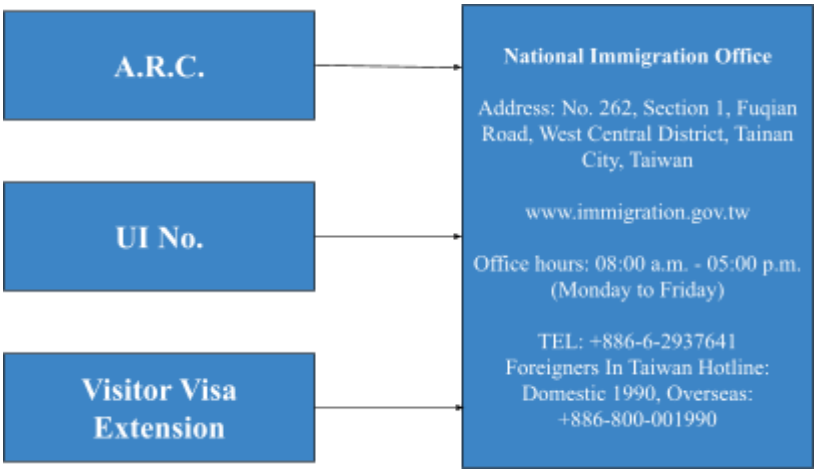
Getting a Visitor Visa Extension

Visitor Visa holders who are permitted to stay in Taiwan for sixty or ninety days and whose Visas bear no such remark as “no extension” may apply at local service centers of the National Immigration Agency for a maximum of 120 or 90 days of extensions. For this process, get in contact with the Immigration office listed on the next page.

Getting an Alien Resident Card (A.R.C.)

The Alien Resident Certificate (A.R.C.) will be a temporary ID card and proves your residence status in Taiwan. If your stay period is over 6 months, do remember to apply for the A.R.C. at local service centers of the National Immigration Agency (NIA) or online with pick-up at the local office. The application for A.R.C. must be done within 30 days starting from the following day of your arrival. Please check NIA website for the latest information.



Former Student Says...

If you fail to finish the application for A.R.C. the authorities will contact the OIA or your department coordinator to reach out to you and ensure you finish your procedures in time.

Finance

Opening a Bank Account

Bring your passport and A.R.C. to a local bank and fill out all necessary forms; you can ask the bank teller for help. Typically, to open a bank account, you have to deposit at least NTD 1,000. We strongly advise that you apply for a bank card, so you'll be able to withdraw money from ATMs at any time.

1. If you don't have an A.R.C., you must have a UI No. to open a bank account. To apply for a UI No., please refer to the National Immigration Agency's website.
2. If you are not considered a legal adult under the law in Taiwan, you will need a letter of consent from your guardian in Taiwan or from an embassy-approved overseas legal guardian. It is often easier to solicit parental or legal consent before you arrive.

U.I. No. Application

The UI (Uniform ID number) is a unique identification number issued to foreign nationals who don't have a Taiwanese National ID and are residing in Taiwan. To apply for it, you will need to head to the National Immigration Agency. For the process, you will be required to bring your passport and fill out the form. Who is required to apply?

1. Students with a Visitor Visa
2. Students who receive a scholarship from Taiwan Government
3. Students with an Entry permit

Bank

The Chunghwa Post Office offers both postal and banking including shipping and receiving, deposit and withdrawal, etc. There is a post office available on Kuang-Fu Campus. To open a financial account in the post office, you should bring the original and a copy of both your passport and your Approved UI. No. Form or A.R.C. For further information, check the Chungwha Post Office website.

There are a lot of banks and ATMs around Campus. Some of these allow you to withdrawal and pick up money using your home country's bank with no transaction fee.

Welcome Activities

The Office of International Affairs organizes a variety of events and activities throughout the semester to support and engage international students. These events range from cultural trips and social gatherings to academic workshops and orientation sessions designed to enhance your experience at NCKU and help you connect with the campus community. To ensure you don't miss out on these opportunities, we highly recommend that you regularly check the OIA Google Calendar.

Orientation Day

Join us for an informative and engaging introduction to National Cheng Kung University, designed to help you settle in smoothly and make the most of your exchange experience.

During this session, you'll be introduced to key locations on campus, important university events, and essential administrative processes that you'll need to know. We'll also highlight things to watch out for as a new student, so you can navigate your time here with confidence.

In addition, you'll gain valuable insights into life in Tainan, learn about the counseling and support services available to students, and see video experiences from former exchange students. This is also a great opportunity to meet your fellow exchange students and their campus linkers.

Welcoming Party

The event is designed as a relaxed and informal gathering to provide exchange students with an opportunity to connect with one another in a friendly and welcoming environment. This meet-up focuses on creating space for casual conversation, social interaction, and building new friendships. Feel free to bring your campus linker to the event.

The location of the event will be announced at a later time, but it will be on campus or somewhere close to campus. The attendees will get to share experiences, exchange contact information, and begin forming their own support networks. Everyone is welcome to come, to relax and to enjoy!

Club fair

This event is organized to introduce students to the wide variety of student clubs and organizations available at NCKU. From sports and fitness groups to music, arts, culture, and creative interest clubs, the Club Fair showcases diverse opportunities for students to get involved outside of the classroom.

Each club will have its own booth or stand set up in front of the Student Activity Center, where representatives will provide information, answer questions, and share more about what they do. It's a great chance to explore new interests, discover hidden talents, and find communities that match your passion.

Over the course of the two-day event, many clubs will also host live presentations or performances to demonstrate their regular activities and attract new members. The Club Fair is the perfect opportunity to dive into campus life and start building lasting connections.

General Advice

Mental Health

Make Yourself Your Number One Priority

Take care of yourself:

- Forgive yourself for the times you might not be at your best.
- Do not ignore your thoughts and feelings. Find one thing to be grateful for every day.
- Talk with someone you can trust.
- Create space for fun and relaxing activities.
- Stay active by taking short walks or joining sports clubs.
- Pause the rush and spend "quiet time" daily.

Self-Care Toolkit

A lot of self-care strategies involve sensory components. Senses are the way we can control the growing chaos inside our brains during stressful situations. The self-care toolkit is different for everyone since for everyone, it is what helps them calm down. Try to create one for yourself and come up with at least one thing for every sense

1. TOUCH - a stuffed animal, soft blanket, or smooth stone
2. TASTE - a favorite snack or drink
3. SIGHT - a picture of the loved ones
4. SMELL - a scented candle, essential oil diffuser, body lotion
5. HEARING - make a playlist of your favorite relaxing songs

Coping with Stress

Studying in a new country can be exciting at first, but a lot of uncertainty and stress comes with it. You will have to deal with exams, assignment deadlines, building career goals, making new friends, and adapting to a different environment. Not all of you might know how to help yourself in times of need.
The most common types of stress you might encounter are stress related to social experiences, work overload, and self-confidence. Fortunately, there are methods to cope with those issues.

1. Identify what is the stress source
2. Find practical steps to improve the situation
3. Stay connected with those who help you feel positive
4. Manage your time effectively and include breaks
5. Create a balance between academic and personal life.

If your stress levels are high and you are unable to cope with them, it is important to seek external support via friends, family, or professional help through the means of a therapist or a counselor.

Personal Safety

Please remember to take care of your personal items and yourself. Although Taiwan is a very safe country, it is still advised not to leave behind any personal items since they might get lost or stolen.

Lost and Found

Most lost and found items are delivered to the Military Training Division on campus. If you've lost an item in your department's classroom or nearby areas, it is advisable to first contact your department office to inquire whether the item has been found and turned in.

Internet Access

There are two primary ways to access the Internet in and around the NCKU campus:

SIM Card: A variety of mobile and SIM Card providers can be found near the campus. These are suitable for obtaining a long-term Taiwanese phone number. Please note that contracts exceeding six months typically require a valid Alien Resident Certificate (A.R.C.) to be eligible for purchase.

Campus Wifi: NCKU offers several wireless internet options for students:

- Main Wifi: The networks NCKU-Wifi(5G) and NCKU-Wifi(2.4G) can be accessed using your Cheng-Kung Portal login credentials.
- Eduroam: As a member of the Eduroam network, NCKU allows students from participating institutions to connect using their home university credentials.
- Departmental Wifi: Some academic departments maintain their own dedicated Wi-Fi networks. In such cases, please contact the relevant department.

In the event of an emergency, students are advised to seek help through the following methods:
