| Where to – KAMO, KUDA, GDJE

>	Kuda ideš?	Idem Frankopanskom ulicom.	+ Instrumental case
>	Kamo ideš?	Idem u muzej.	+ Accusative case
>	Gdje si?	Ja sam u muzeju.	+ Locative case

As you can see: kamo and kuda are usually followed by the verb to go (ići), while gdje is usually followed by the verb to be (biti). All three questions will require using a different case in the answer. However, let us investigate first what these questions mean.

>	kuda	how are you getting there (which path are you taking in order to get somewhere)
>	kamo	where are you going (your motion toward a certain place/location)
>	gdje	where are you located (your current, past, or future exact location)

When someone asks you one of these questions, your answer has to follow these rules:

>	Kuda ideš? Idem Frankopanskom.	(by way of Frankopanska) The answer will include the name of the street in the Instrumental case (without the preposition).
>	Kamo ideš? Idem u muzej.	Answer will include the adequate preposition u / na + the Accusative case
>	Gdje si? Ja sam u muzeju.	The answer will include the appropriate preposition u / na + the Locative case

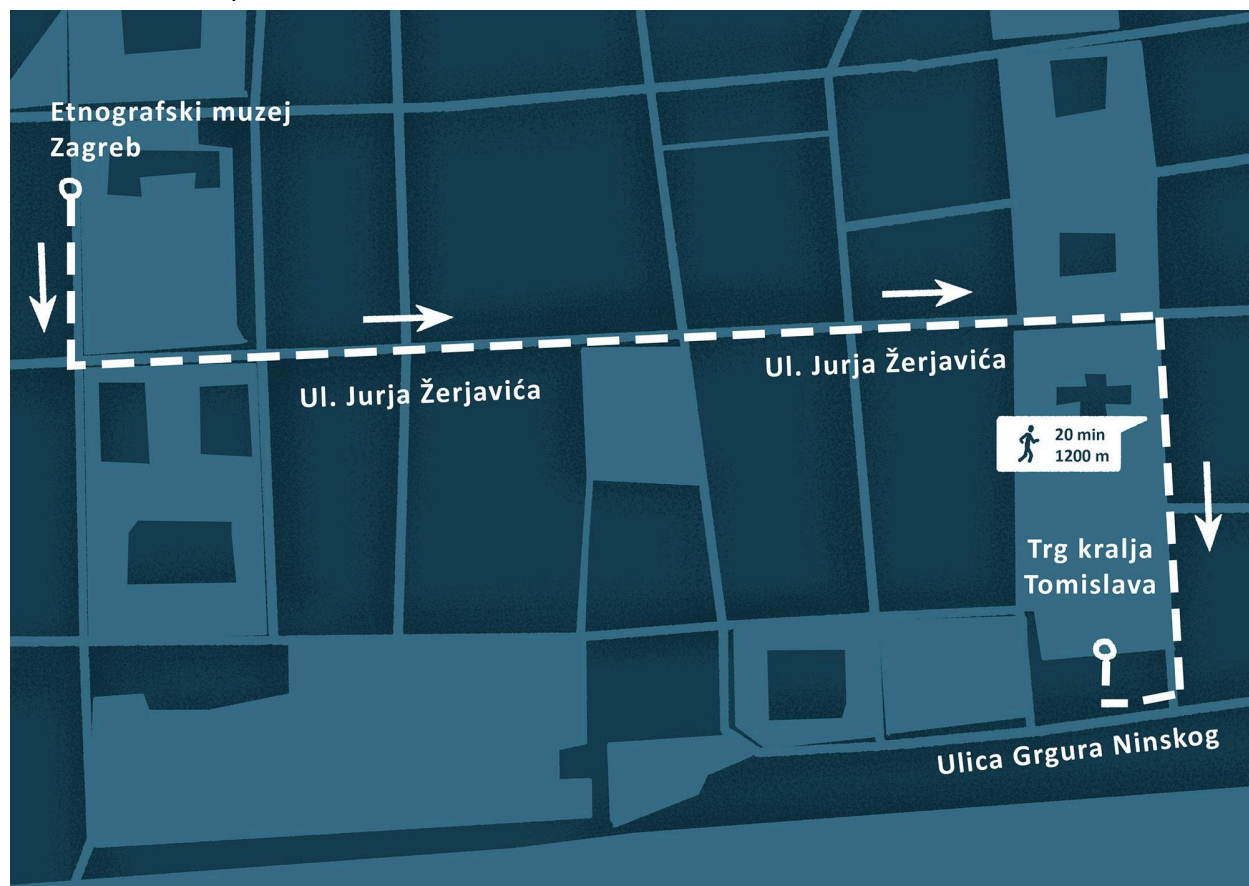

| Directions

When giving direction on how to reach a certain place, these are the most common directions:

>	idite ravno do (+Genitive)	go straight until [you reach]
>	idite ravno ... (+Instrumental)	go down/up a certain street

>	skrenite desno / lijevo	turn right / left
>	preko ceste je...	across the street there is...
>	nasuprot je...	something is opposite something else

Look at the example:

Idite pravo do ulice Jurja Žerjavića i zatim skrenite lijevo. Idite Žerjavićevom do ulice baruna Trenka i idite pravo do trga kralja Tomislava. Skrenite desno i idite pravo do ulice Grgura Ninskog. Skrenite desno i trg kralja Tomislava će biti na desnoj strani.
