

Raiders of the lost ball©

Two guys were in the playground at eleven o'clock enjoying their free time with a cloudy day.

They were playing ping pong tennis.
The match was equal and interesting.

There was a point for the first player...

And another point to the second player. We could say that the match was a “ping...pong”

But suddenly a bad smash let loose the tragedy! We never thought that this could happen...

The ball disappeared! And one of both players calls for the “bottle ancestral law: Who thow it go for it”

Then the smasher started his adventure, we're going to say more,
raiders of the lost ball.

This guy went inside the cursed bushes without awareness of that was going to happen...

DANGER. The guy was dying! The bushes were eating him! The other guy couldn't do anything!

All people cry the death of the adventurer... We'll remember him.

Thank you for watching
