REASONS WHY YOU SHOULD BLOG

1

ATTRACT AN AUDIENCE

Enables you to reach people that share the same interest as you

2

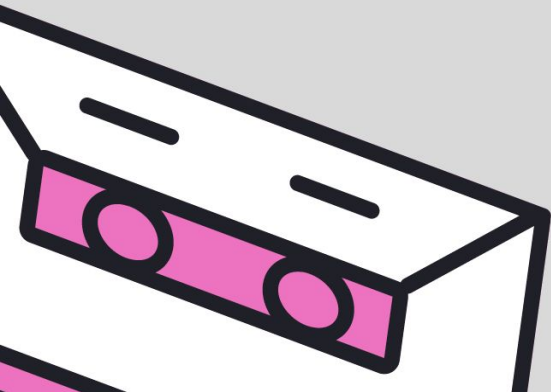

ORGANIZE THOUGHTS

Blogging forces you to teach yourself what you don't know and to articulate what you do know. If there are any gaps in the topic that you are writing about, you will have to learn about it

3

VALIDATE EXPERTISE

Blogs are the new resumes. Blogging about a topic you would like to be viewed as an expert in, can illustrate to readers, employers, and your network, that you are skilled and knowledgeable.

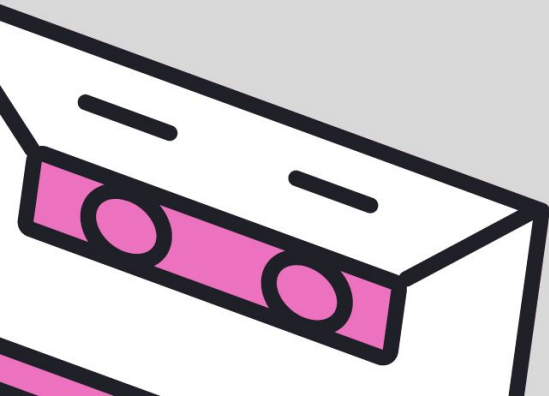

THE MAIN REASON

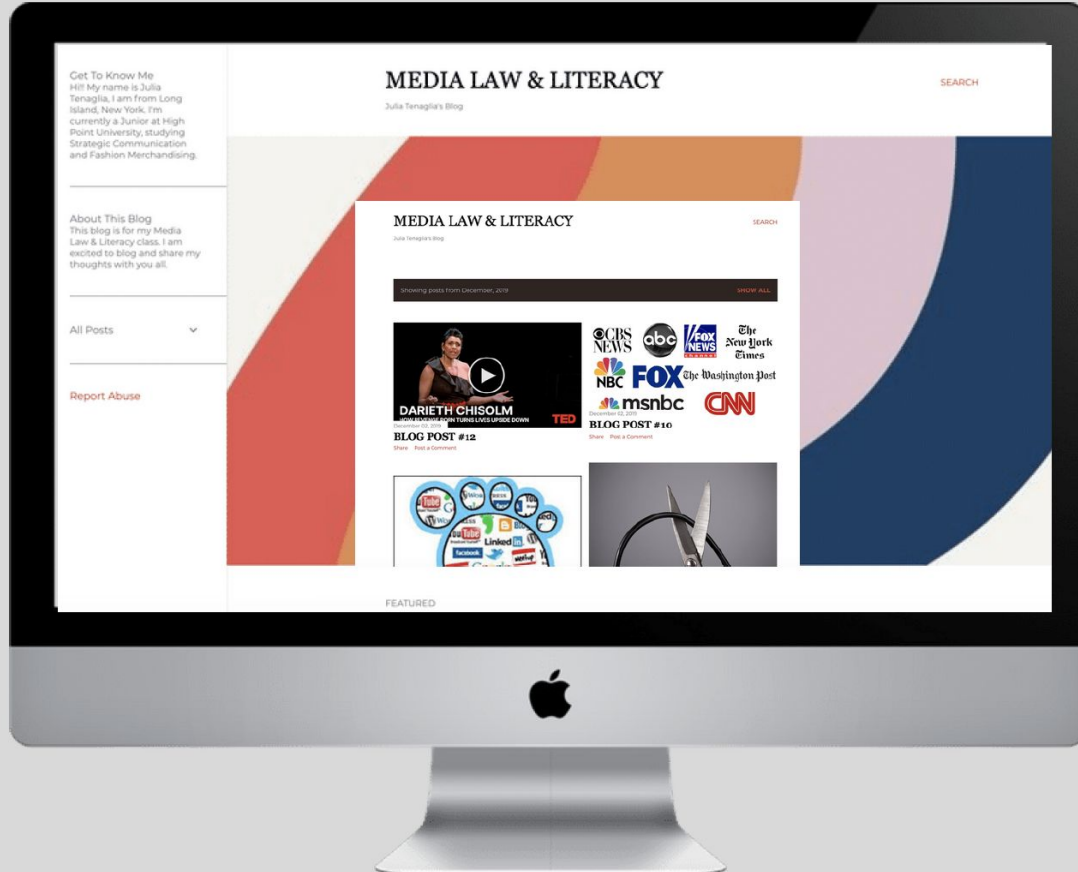

4

DISCOVER AND EXPRESS YOURSELF

Writing is a great way to learn about yourself and express your inner thoughts, ideas and feelings. Spending alone time with your thoughts is very therapeutic. It's like meditating and getting work done at the same time. The act of writing unleashes your imagination, nurtures your ideas and taps into the farthest corners of your brain. As a result, you will become more flexible and creative in your thinking

SPEECH THEORIES/INDIVIDUAL SELF FULFULMENT

Being able to express yourself to reflect what you represent, is one of the most important values in life. Self-worth is such a huge concept so many people lack. Following the path of fulfillment, we create moments and we can grasp the understanding that we are capable of and realize our self-worth. “

The marketplace of ideas” metaphor, justifies the freedom of speech and it reflects the freedom to think, imagine and create. I strongly believe individual self-fulfillment is one of the most important values to have. Being able to stand up for what you believe in and defend who you are, is extremely powerful.

The impact one can have on a person is immense. To believe in yourself, create and imagine expressively is not common amongst everyone, but if it is obtained, it radiates.

The first amendment protects five basic freedoms: freedom of religion, speech, press, assembly, and petition the government. To find success in life, you need to be willing to speak your mind. Be expressive. Value your own thoughts and opinions. Regardless if it is economically, socially, spiritually, philosophically, or politically, EMBRACE the freedom you are GIVEN. Don't limit yourself.

I think everyone is subjected to their own opinions. Heck yeah!! The world would be boring if our minds thought the same. There would be no entertainment and no adrenaline rush over passionate conversations. We communicate every day on platforms about shared opinions as well as the opposite. As long as we keep it tasteful, and respectful.

We want to embrace our values, opinions, and thoughts. Our minds are imaginative and creative, and we should never limit ourselves. Speak with love, passion, and purpose. Know your worth, know what you're capable of, and share it.
