MEET THE FAMILY

Josh, Linn and their two boys moved to Waco so that Josh could pursue his master's degree in music at Baylor University. The family of four wanted a home with a functional layout, a room where they could all hang out together, a lot of character throughout the home, and a space for Josh to work on his music. The couple's taste is a modern twist on the traditional style with antique and vintage-inspired pieces incorporated throughout. The home didn't have many architectural elements in it naturally, so we added in some classic patterns and textures to give it interest. A color you'll see carried throughout this home in different shades is blue. I wanted this whole space to feel calm, inspiring and relaxing. The most notable design elements were musically inspired, which gave the home personality and a story.

Tour the House

LIVING ROOM

Objective | Give the room an update that feels seamless from the kitchen to the living room.

The musical theme in this house is carried throughout little details and larger statement pieces. These gutted antique cellos and the antique "Flanos" sign brought personality to the room. The pew, the mantel, the vent hood, the antique doors, and the cellos all have warm wood tones which brings both spaces together nicely.

The fireplace in this home has a very interesting location. It's not centered on the wall, and it's right next to the backdoor. Moving a fireplace can be pricey, so we had to work with what we had to stay in the budget. To complete this look, we installed a detailed accent wall to finish things off. The marble fireplace surround gives the room a modern detail and a little extra texture.

KITCHEN

Objective | Maximize the small space and add architectural interest to the room.

The cabinets have a very traditional style to them, and the painted lower cabinets tie in the more modern element. We chose to paint the upper cabinetry white to keep the boldness of the blue from overpowering the kitchen. The pattern in the glass brings in a little bit of that architectural interest we were looking to add to the home.

The brass pendant lighting adds a modern element to the kitchen and tied in well with the hardware. Installing pendant lights above the island with the cased opening also helped define the kitchen as its own, distinctive space in this large open room. The finished product is a good balance of exemplifying both traditional and modern.

ASK THE HOMEOWNER

Q: HOW DID YOUR HOME BALANCE DESIGN AND FUNCTIONALITY?

A: The openness of the living/dining/kitchen area allows for us to be together whether we are preparing meals, eating, or playing. Everything is connected and functional, and everything is so beautiful and tied perfectly together from a visual perspective.

Q: HOW WAS YOUR OWN STYLE REVEALED IN YOUR HOME?

A: One of the biggest things that we feel reflects our family are the music-related accents that were sprinkled throughout the house. There isn't a day that goes by that songs are not sung in this house, and it's fun to have our house reflect how much music is a part of our lives.

Q: WHAT SURPRISED YOU ABOUT THE DESIGN PROCESS?

A: We were surprised at the amount of attention that was paid to what we wanted and were looking for. We were often asked for our thoughts and input on specific design choices. It was nice to see just how much energy, time, and effort was put into making this a home for us.
