The A.T.TIPSCAST

A free, audio podcast featuring strategies to differentiate learning. Every episode features at least one "A.T.TIP" that can be immediately implemented in contemporary classrooms to help provide students with options. The A.T.TIPSCAST has won multiple awards including the 2012 Edublog Award for Best Podcast Series! Episodes are short and engaging featuring skits, special guests, and more!

Universal Design for Learning (UDL) is the practice of embedding flexible strategies into the curriculum during the planning process so that ALL students can access a variety of learning solutions.

How Do We Do It?

Multiple Means of Engagement

How do we engage students?

Multiple Means of Representation

How do we present information to students?

Multiple Means of Action & Expression

How do students share what they know?

Short Video Explaining UDL:
<http://bit.ly/udlexplainedvid>

CAST UDL GUIDELINES:

<http://bit.ly/castudlguidelines>

What does this have to do with using audio?

Audio is One Modality:

- to engage students
- to represent content
- to allow students to express what they know

Research / Evidence

There is a lot of evidence to support the idea that simply listening to audio stories improves reading abilities.

Listen Anywhere, Anytime!

- In the car
- On the bus
- Outside
- Doing chores
- At night
- Bath time
- On the potty
- At the doctor's
- In bed

Donations!

Parents might donate old phones, iPods, .mp3 players, etc. to your classroom.

Just ask!

BYOHP

Many students come with headphones already.
Just use their own.

Don't Need A Mobile Device!

Listen from a
Desktop Computer

Burn CDs!
Use Whatchya Got!

Speed Is Your Friend

Some media players (not iTunes) have speed controls to increase/decrease the playback rate.

In Windows Media Player, right click on the play button.

Where Do I Find Content...

- to introduce a topic?
- for a pre-class activity?
- for a post-class activity?
- for an extension activity?
- to review a concept?
- for a literacy activity?
- for an independent activity?

REPRESENTATION

Audio in Professional Practice

Sample Consultation Clause:

"The following are a few of the recommendations we brainstormed together. Within these are tutorials and additional information. The intent is not that you read/listen/watch them all, but pick and choose the modality that best fits your learning style. The different modalities are meant to provide you with options for how best you'd like to experience the content."

Recommendation #1 - High Contrast in Windows - Based on our conversation and observation of this student it seems like the student needs for text to appear larger on the screen. Furthermore, a background color other than white seems to help the student attend to content.

- Burn CDs as presents or party favors

SUMMARY

Audio provides...

1. Different way for teachers to represent info
2. Different way for students to express what they know
3. Different way to introduce or reinforce concepts to adults
4. Put audio as an option when explaining things in educational reports/emails
5. Entertainment/Edutainment
6. Literature exposure at an early age

Sharing & Questions!

- How have you used audio?
- What are some other times/places you can use audio?
- What are your favorite podcasts?
