The fifth of the Babylon stations, the others having been mysteriously destroyed.

The last of the Babylon stations.

Originally an Earth freeport in neutral space. Now the seat of the Interstellar Alliance, until they move to Minbar.

Still operated by Earth. But to what end?

The Situation

The Shadow War is over.

Earth has been freed.

The Interstellar Alliance is newborn. Its Rangers and White Star fleet protect it.

But dark forces work within, disrupting the newfound unity. The Council still squabbles. Some Alliance members chafe under the new galactic order. Mutual help has given way to suspicion and opportunism.

And outside of the Alliance -- rumors of mysterious attacks may signal a new threat. Or an old one.
