Teacher Performance Expectations (TPEs)

Commission on Teacher
Credentialing

The Teaching Performance Expectations (TPEs) for credential candidates describe the set of professional knowledge, skills and abilities expected of a beginning level practitioner in order to effectively support the growth, development, and learning of all students and to work collaboratively with families to support all students in meeting the state-adopted academic content standards.

The scope of the pedagogical assignments:

- (a) addresses all of the TPEs as they apply to the subjects to be authorized by the credential, and
- (b) prepares the candidate for course-related and other assessments of their competence with respect to both the Universal TPEs and the Education Specialist TPEs.

As candidates progress through the curriculum, faculty and other qualified supervisors assess candidates' performance in relation to the TPEs and provide formative and timely performance feedback regarding candidates' progress toward mastering the TPEs.
