

INTRODUCING ELANA MEYERS-TAYLOR

CLASSROOM CHAMPIONS[®]
how better gets better and better

Elana is a groundbreaking bobsledder who won a silver medal at the 2014 Sochi Winter Olympic Games, a bronze medal at the 2010 Vancouver Olympic Games, and recently added another silver medal from the 2018 PyeongChang Olympic Games.

Elana also won the first World Championship by a U.S. female bobsled driver, and was the first U.S. driver, male or female, to win a two-man or four-man Olympic or World Championship gold medal on a non-North American track since 1959.

Performance Stats:

3x Olympic Medalist
(2 Silver, 1 Bronze)

2x World Champion

FUN FACT!

Elana and her husband, fellow Classroom Champions mentor Nic Taylor, had a son this year who they call Nico.
