

INTRODUCING

KELLY CURTIS

CLASSROOM
CHAMPIONS
how better gets better and better

Kelly competes for the USA in the sport of skeleton. Most recently, she competed in the 2022 Olympic Winter Games in Beijing and now has her sights set on the 2026 games in Italy.

Kelly was born in New Jersey and excelled in track and field and basketball before competing in the heptathlon in university. She graduated with a degree in sport management and then completed a master's degree in educational leadership.

After university, Kelly tried bobsled and was invited to Lake Placid where she first learned about skeleton and turned her attention to the sport. She quickly climbed the ranks, winning the North American and Intercontinental Cup and then racing in the World Cup in 2021/22.

Kelly competed in her first Olympics soon after in 2022 while also completing her training in the US Air Force.

Performance Stats:

2022 World Cup Bronze Medalist

2022 Olympian

Highest placed American woman in 9th at her first World Cup in 2021

Intercontinental Cup and North American Cup Gold Medalist

FUN FACT!

I am an Airman in the US Air Force stationed in Italy and I have two cats—one with fur named Absinthe and the other without fur named Cobie!