

VANDERBILT

UNIVERSITY

Accessible Tech for Everyone/Everywhere: College and Workplace

CSUN Assistive Technology Conference
Thursday, March 16, 2023

Xueyuan (Rio) Jia

Graduate Student, Vanderbilt University

Email: xueyuan.jia@vanderbilt.edu

Betsy Sirk

Digital Accessibility/Section 508 Program Manager, National Aeronautics and Space Administration

Email: betsy.sirk@nasa.gov

Antonio Haileselassie

Digital Accessibility/Section 508 Program Manager, National Institutes of Health

Email: Antonio.Haileselassie@NIH.gov

Higher Education Takeaways

- Representation Promotes Confidence & Possibility
- Accessible Technology Needed Inside & Outside the Classroom
- Culture of Inclusion
- Advocacy — Share why Accessibility Matters to You and Be an Advocate for Others

Workplace Takeaways

- Accessible Tech Benefits All
 - Designed to Interoperate with Assistive Technology
 - Provides Better Experience for Everyone
- Identifying Accessibility Requirements Early In The Acquisition Or Development Lifecycle Prevents Costly Rework
- Accessible Tech Enables Workforce Diversity and Inclusion
- Accessibility Is A Win-win Situation For Industry And Government
 - Opens The Door For The Federal Government To Purchase ICT
 - Allows Industry To Reach A Broader Customer Base
 - Improves Customer Experience