Philosophy of Science: Observation, Objectivity, and Epistemological Anarchism

A large satellite dish antenna is positioned in the lower right quadrant of the image, pointing upwards. The background is a dark blue night sky filled with numerous stars, some appearing as bright blue points of light. The overall scene suggests a theme of observation and scientific inquiry.

PHIL 09368 | Prereq: 1 PHIL or PHRE class
Can also be taken as Senior Seminar in Philosophy
Prof. Lund | Mon/Wed 11:00 | Library 403

Philosophy & Gender

This course will explore philosophical issues relating to gender as considered by classical, modern and contemporary philosophers. Recent work by feminist philosophers will be emphasized.

Prof. Kazarian | Online

Asian Thought

Prof. Wang | Mon & Wed 3:30 | James 2097

What is Yoga (not just a physical exercise)? What is Nirvana (not just a name of a musical band)? What does it mean by being a Zen Buddhist and using a Zen puzzle? What is Yin and Yang?

We will explore these concepts philosophically in regard to Hinduism, Buddhism, Confucianism and Daoism, and place them in a dialogue with Western philosophy. Join us for this journey to an extended philosophical horizon!
