Weekly Reading

Every week, we will read a short story about people who help our community.

Weekly Reading

We are going to read a short story about volunteers.

What do you see in this picture?

What will we read about?

Weekly Reading

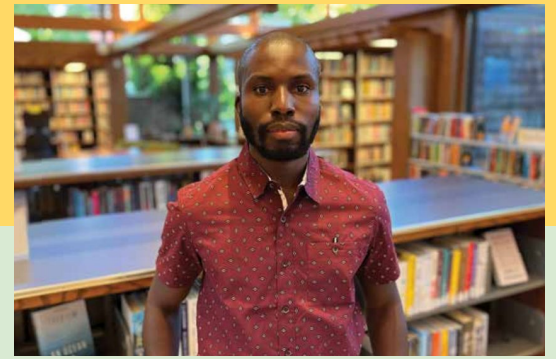

Wallace is a volunteer. He helps in English Conversation Circle from Seattle Public Library.

Wallace helps students practice conversation on Zoom. Wallace used to be a student, too. He knows how important it is to practice English every day. He loves volunteering because he meets new people from around the world.

English Conversation Circle is Tuesdays from 6:00 to 7:00 pm, or Thursdays from 2:00 to 3:00 pm. Anyone can join any time!

Weekly Reading

Conversation

1. Do you go to English Conversation Circle sometimes?
2. Do you like to volunteer in schools or classes? Do you have experience?
3. What are some things volunteers can do to help people learn new things?

Movement break! Come back at 7:05

Final Project

We will start working on our final projects today.

You will finish for homework.

We will present our final projects to the class at the end of the quarter!

The final project is speaking (and writing).

You will talk about about helping your community.

Final Project Planning

Your teacher will help you talk about and write your final project!

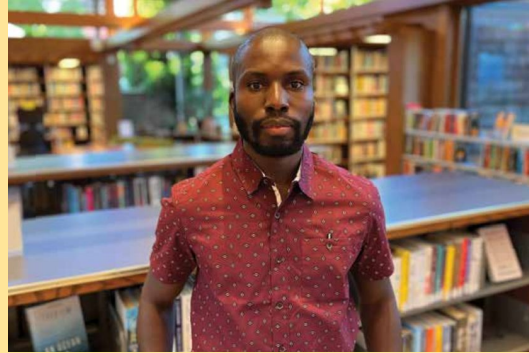

Final Project

What do you remember about these volunteers?

How do they help their community?

Terri, Nadia, and Gelsomina give plants to their neighbors.

Wallace helps students practice English conversation.

Dea helps lost animals find new homes.

Final Project

What do you remember about these volunteers?

How do they help their community?

Ho Chung helps people stop smoking.

Joy visits children in hospitals. She makes them smile and laugh!

Volunteers at West Seattle Food Bank give families healthy food.

Final Project Conversation

Do you volunteer sometimes?

Final Project Conversation

Do you volunteer sometimes?

Talk about how you help your community.

Badra volunteers to help people from school.

Siyoum helps people at work. He helps push wheelchairs, brings people water, and helps them find the front desk.

If someone is sick or needs a ride, Fadumo cooks for them or gives them a ride.

Asnaku helps new people find the Welfare Department and DSHS. She gives them food. She helps new people go to the store and the bus, and she listens to them.

Final Project Conversation

Do you volunteer sometimes?

Talk about how you help your community.

Gidey volunteers at Goodwill. He donates clothes. He talks to people about smoking.

- To donate: to give things for free

Wei also donates clothes and food.

Lemlem donates clothes and shoes. She helps children. She talks to people about smoking.

Siwa talks about smoking. She likes to help at the hospital. She gives food and water to animals outside.

Ricardo volunteers at the church. He teaches guitar and bass to adults and children.

Final Project Conversation

Do you volunteer sometimes?

Talk about how you help your community.

Medhin: Food bank.

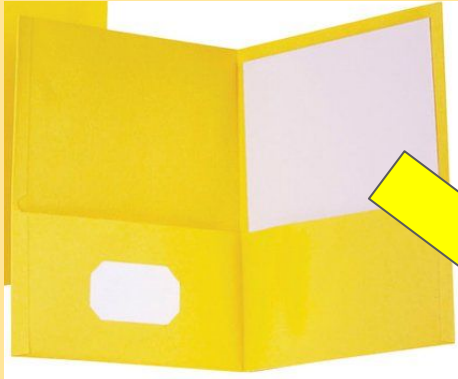

Heyam: I cook and I go to the food bank. I help the city in Kent. When people come, I take their name. I speak Arabic.

Yency: Food bank. I cook.

Hee Joo: My family last week picnic with dogs. I think the dog is hungry. I buy him hamburger food. I really like dogs. I have two dogs.

Nasteho: Every time when I see people, I help.

Final Project Writing

1. Take out this paper!

Final Project: Helping Our Community

A. What can you do to help your community? Write one thing that is important to you.

1. Talk about not smoking

B. List 3 reasons why your topic is important.

1. Smoking causes health problems.
2. Smoking hurts everyone in the community because we breathe the same air.
3. Kids need to know that smoking is bad.

C. Write 5 sentences about how you can help your community.

I help my community by talking about not smoking. Some people in my family smoke, and they have health problems. Smoking hurts everyone in the community because we breathe the same air. I talk about not smoking with my family, my friends, and my students. We all need fresh, clean air!

Final Project Example: Megan

Megan and her mom taking a walk outside in fresh, clean air!

I help my community by talking about not smoking. Some people in my family smoke, and they have health problems. Smoking hurts everyone in the community because we breathe the same air. I talk about not smoking with my family, my friends, and my students. We all need fresh, clean air!
