

Lab Work

Colloid and a Laser

Milk is a colloid

Water lets
the laser through

Milk is a colloid. It has very small particles that scatter light Flour in water is a suspension. The bigger particles of the colloid scatter the light much less than the one of the colloid

Let's compare them side by side!

