Courtney Hoffos is an Olympian and World Cup athlete on the Canadian Ski Cross team. She grew up in Windermere, BC, which is a small town only 30 minutes away from the ski hill, Panorama.

Participating in all sports was Courtney's life until she had to narrow it down and focus on ski racing. She switched to ski cross in 2017 after alpine racing for over a decade. In addition to being a full-time athlete, she is also currently attending Business School at the University of Calgary because she values education.

FUN FACT!

I love to bake and cook...and eat! My favourite season is summer because I hate being cold, which is funny because I'm a winter athlete!
