Word Order
Subject -> Verb -> Object
Adjective -> Noun -> Postposition
Blat
Unmarked singular. Plural is marked by "ts" being added to the end of the word, unless it already ends with ts, then the t is removed. If the word ends with "t" the t is lengthened into "t'", and then s is added to the end instead.
Possession
Nouns have a "t" added to the end to signify possession, while nouns ending in "t" lengthen the t to "t'". If the word is plural as well, or ends with ts, the "ts" becomes a "dž". If the word ends with "dt", and is plural, the "dts" becomes "džt'".
Changes during Conjugation
Vts/V -> Vts'/V
Vt'/V -> Vt'/V
Vts/V -> Vts'/V
Vts/V -> Vts'/V
