some words of wisdom especially for future FMG applicants: 1. Apply to more programs than you think you should. I'm glad that I did that. Got interviews from some top institutes that I wasn't expecting, didn't get interviews from a bunch of midtler programs
2. Accept all the interviews initially. I didn't get any call on Decijan. Only one in early Nov. Contact every program you applied to without any expectation. Three of the programs, on contact, told me that I am on their waiting list. But I never got the call.
2. There are a lot of very well qualified FMGs with years of pathology training. If you're not one of strong.
 You may be able to pick up an observership while you are interviewing! Consider doing it. There are a few appropriate who offer prematch. Apply to them. By the time the offer is made you. will know how many interviews you have gotten and how is your chance. I declined one on the spo (mid October) and each to the PO that I'll stay in the match, bon't make that metake, lake your time to mult it over.
6. Take step 3. I was given that suggestion but couldn't find time to take it before this January. Don	į.
Large transport and the following the first field of places and the first field of the control of the first field of the control of the first field of the first fiel
 And finally, tailor your pitch according to the program. If you are in a non-academic program, you should talk about your experience in chapterership more than your measuring flanch research is important in pathology but not as much as I thought. Also there were a lot of candidates with year of research experience. If you have masters you'll perhaps meet candidates with PhD, if you have PhD you'll probably meet people with post-docs. Don't get intimidated. You will be given as long yo have strong points in your application, you can successfully highlight them.
mean anything. It's not hard to match in pathology, but it's not that easy either. ERAS data suggest that out of 1200 IMG applicants in pathology about 200-250 will match. So the odds aren't great. Bu	- Decourage
This applying to path this upcoming cycle and have been following this thread for quite some time. Just wanted to say thank you so so much to everyone who wrote down information and contributed to this. Everything that has been said has been incredibly helpful in figuring out where to apply for aways, and will be undoubtedly useful for figuring out where to apply for residency as a below average applicant. Congrate to everyone and good tack this Friday! If there's anything you want to ad- about your respective location in the future, prease do ex. I will continue to be referring to this document over the next year.
Thank you guys so much. For real -CD
 Apply to more programs than you think you should. The glad that I did that. Cod interviews from some top institutes that I wasn't expending, shall you interviews from a bound of military excessors. It is not you all your man.
 Accept all the interviews initially 1 side? get any sail on Derviller. Only one in early New Contact every program you applied to militant any expensation. Three of the programs, on contact, bild me that I am on their waiting fel. But I mean get the sail.
 These are a line of very seed qualified FMCs with years of pathology bearings if you've not one of these, short he shaheastened. You should still be also as long as your application. In advantum below you are interviewing! Consider stong 8. You may be able to polit up an observationly while you are interviewing! Consider stong 8.

Hey guys, I went through Match/SOAP last year for pathology, 8 I know what a stressfuldifficut time this is. While I didn't get a spot last year, I reapplies this cycle and just learned that I matched. So I want to ofter my story to give you hope that your dreams aren't over just be you didn't match. I'm happy to assewer any questions you participating the very best of lack. You've got a team here supporting & rooting for your success!	CONGRATS MAN!
what does the sopa template means? all those all	It's just a template people can use to keep track of programs. It's a match violation to share unfilled programs, so I left it there in the locked position in case it can be of any help to those SCAPing.	ok, so it does not mean that those are the unfilled programs? got it.!!
US MD ranked 8 programs, statistically >95% match rate, didn't match, will happened. 4/108 US MDs didn't match last year = 2%.	Heme/Onc. PA	Philadelphia	University of Pennsylvania Health System	Dinner the night before	No (recommend hotels within walking distance)		It hought Penn had some of the most attractive path facilities overall. Faculty I met were all very friendly and residents say they are supportive. Good case volume and variety. They seem to be able to cater somewhat to the level of the resident with some pairing between senior and juint residents on rotations like autopsy. Great city to live in and residents seem to have the time to enjoy the city. Nice global health initiatives, too.	It seems like some aspects of balancing resident workload and responsibilities are in flux. Unclear how readily they adapt new things, e.g. apparently have been planning to switch to AP Beaker within the next 3 years for far longer than 3 years now. See my comment in "other."	lwas surprised by Pens. I was told that residents here hadn't been particularly happy in the past, and I found that somewhat difficult to axes during my interievies.
