Marguerite A van Mansfeld	All of the Words	5/17/2018	3:00 PM	4:15 PM	Atlanta 5	Time to go through all of the words! We're look into the definitions and uses of words, terms and orientations that describe folks in our intersecting communities including kink, bdsm, polyamory, ethical non monogamy, sexuality and so much more! Who knows you might learn something you want to add to your life! Be sure to come with terms you'd like to share.
Tony Gowell	How to be a Great Moderator/Panelist	05/17/2018	3:00 PM	4:15 PM	Atlanta 4	A "Moderator 101" introduction for those aspiring to be at the front of the room at any number of conventions, no matter the subject. Handouts provided!
The Chameleon Queen	Presence and Poise	5/17/2018	3:00 PM	4:15 PM	Atlanta 2	A practical class on the physicality of being a lady: posture, self-confidence, and grace. Please be sure to bring a pair of heels, no less than 2 1/2" high, and no kitten heels.
Amariah Love and Anna Baxter LPC	Know Thyself: Finding your Identity in Polyamory	5/17/2018	4:30 PM	5:45 PM	Atlanta 5	This class will feature a discussion about identity as it relates to ethical non-monogamy. Is relational identity a choice? How do our other identities complement or clash with polyamory? We will incorporate exercises for attendees to help figure out who/what they are, and talk about how it can be empowering to own an identity. Facilitators will talk about their own journeys in how they discovered they were non-monogamous and encourage discussion about attendees' journeys to non-monogamy.
Candi Lecoeur	Setting the Scene: Learning How to Properly Pre-Heat the Oven	5/17/2018	4:30 PM	5:45 PM	Atlanta 1	Foreplay and ambiance can be key ingredients to having a truly fulfilling sexual and/or kinky experience with your partner(s). Learn the "do's" and "don'ts" of setting the mood in a way that will have your partner squirming on the edge of their seat! Whether you're queer, straight, dom(me), service-oriented or all of the above, this course will help you master the power of how ambiance can help you bring your partner's fantasies to life.
Matt Podowitz	Personal Safety and Crime-Prevention Techniques for Performers and Public Personalities	5/17/2018	4:30 PM	5:45 PM	Atlanta 2	Crime happens everywhere, all the time. There are techniques everyone can employ to reduce their chances of avoiding criminal encounters and, if they can't be avoided, increase their chances of escape and survival. However, performers and public personalities aren't "everyone." They face a host of additional personal safety challenges beyond those everyone else faces. This 75-minute presentation will highlight some of those risks, present strategies and techniques for avoiding or escaping them, and provide ideas participants can use to create or supplement their personal safety plan. Specific topics to be covered include the psychology of criminal predators, survival mindset, personal safety in public/rehearsal space/performance space, boundary setting, stalker avoidance/response, (secret) identity protection, personal defense training options, and personal protection devices. While intended primarily for Con participants who are performers and public personalities, all interested Con attendees are welcome (and encouraged!) to attend this presentation.
	Mission Driven Relationships	5/17/2018	4:30 PM	5:45 PM	Atlanta 4	On completion of the course, learners should be able to write mission statements for their own personal relationships and know what the primary benefits, limitations, and possible uses of having a mission statement for one's personal relationships are.
Ryan Brown	Social Engineering: Microexpressions, Gaslighting, and True Consent	5/19/2018	5:30 PM	6:45 PM	Savannah 2	It seems every day in the news there is another story of someone charged with sexual assault and their defense is, "But she said yes..." In the kink community we have the concept of "enthusiastic consent". We have negotiations before a scene. Roles are laid out explicitly. Boundaries are firmly set. But what about when all of that careful pre-planning isn't enough? What if behind the smile, the new partner is feeling pressured into it and trying not to let on? What about when a "yes" should have been a "no"? In this talk we'll go over tiny clues and gestures in body language that can mean no when their mouth says yes. We'll also cover how to recognize and protect yourself from gaslighting, spot signs of deception and lying through microgestures, and how to be able to be sure beyond words that consent has been truly exchanged.

MAGS and Tantelle	Writing Sprints	5/17/2018	6:00 PM	5:45 PM	Georgia 9	Get your write on! Did you know you can write an entire book in a year just by writing for 15 minutes every day? In this workshop, we'll do quick 10-15 minute writing sprints so that you can see what you can create in such a short bit of time. Bring your own work to add to or use one of our many story prompts to get things going!
Lykania	LGBTQ+ Story Time	5/17/2018	7:30 PM	8:45 PM	Room 123	In this session, I welcome you to join us for an open space to share your unique experience as an LGBTQ+ person by telling your story. Perhaps, you would like to share your story of self-discovery, your coming out story or maybe even your first experience within the community? I also invite you to come and listen and learn from the stories shared by others.
anandalila	Naked Yoga - Friday Edition	5/18/2018	9:00 AM	10:00 AM	Georgia 13	Stretch your mind and free your body in this gentle, all-levels clothing optional yoga practice that is appropriate for Absolute Beginners as well as those with More Experience. You are invited to get as naked as you like, however, we will start clothed. Please bring your yoga mat or a beach towel to practice on, a towel to sit on, and water in a closed container. People of all shapes, sizes, genders, and abilities are most welcome!
Ida	Consent I: You know what you want, but do they?	5/18/2018	10:00 AM	11:15 AM	Atlanta 5	Consent and negotiation, BDSM 101 right?!? If that was the case we would all be 100% comfortable asking for what we want and (more importantly) communicating what we fear, are not ok doing or having done to us. Communication around consent is a skill that requires practice to develop. Join Rachel Anne Kieran PsyD and Nickie Fuentes, MS LPC for a session focused on role playing and discussion where participants will have an opportunity to practice the act of giving and receiving consent. We will give tips on how to talk about your limits, feel empowered to say NO mid-scene, and communicate your boundaries regardless of your role within the scene. This class is for everyone! Participants are encouraged to share, practice or just observe based on their comfort level.
JJ MacCrimmon, Amelia Bareheart, The Lady Julie	Modeling & Photographing 101 - Welcome to the Model Protection Program	5/18/2018	10:00 AM	11:15 AM	Atlanta 2	This is an introductory class & panel discussion for aspiring models and photographers. After many long discussions with new and emerging models, photographer JJ MacCrimmon and veteran models, "The Lady Julie" & others break down some of the basic principles to guide models & photographers in getting started, staying safe and keeping focused. The presentation will discuss the do's and don't of modeling, addressing motivations, types of modeling, developing your persona, protecting your privacy and much more. These very basic tenants of behavior will help keep potential models and photographers safe, while helping them to better market themselves. We will also touch on the legalisms of the industry to include types of releases, licensing, copyright and sale of stock images. The presenters will discuss specialized modeling agencies, webcamming, how to present yourself, what the expectations are on direction (fashion vs fetish) and how to protect your image.
Rhythm N. Mews	Boundaries as an s-type	5/18/2018	10:00 AM	11:15 AM	Room 123	Many s-types and bottoms find themselves having trouble being confident in creating, discussing, and upholding their boundaries with their dominant type/top, in their non-monogamous relationship(s), in the workplace, or even among friends. In this class, we will discuss tools to create definitive boundaries, communicate them without feelings of guilt or apprehension, and express yourself confidently and respectfully in discussions regarding boundaries being crossed.
Sacara	Non-monogamy, Chronic Illness and Disability	5/18/2018	10:00 AM	11:15 PM	Savannah 3	Take some time to connect and discuss life with other folks living poly with health challenges.
Tantelle	Woo for the Kinky Wordslinger	5/18/2018	10:00 AM	11:15 AM	Atlanta 4	Writers are particularly sensitive to the relationship between words, energy, and evoking a desired response. After all, incantations and spells are found among the earliest pieces of literature across cultures. This practical, interactive workshop is two-fold: using "woo" techniques to better nurture ourselves as creators (freeing ourselves of barriers and limitations), and starting a metaphysical toolbox to enhance writing and blast through writer's block!

Greyman and Kiantewench	Poly 101	5/18/2018	10:00 AM	11:15 AM	Savannah 2	Welcome beginners, old-hats, onlookers and those who are curious. Kiantewench and Greyman lead this Q&A discussion on Polyamory and its many forms in a basic and straightforward way with the key goal of educating and enabling people who want to start or enhance their Ethical non-monogamy journey.
Blacfox	Sensation Play	5/18/2018	10:00 AM	11:15 AM	Atlanta 3	For some it's the smell of roses, other, the touch of a lover. Still others the sound of an orgasm. Our senses are, in a way, what drives the kinkster in all of us. We are constantly seeking stimulation in one, or many things. It is this belief that I believe drives such a thing as sensation play. The stimulation of as many if not all senses. Those that seek the exploration of BDSM/kink, but don't have the taste for sadomasochistic acts will find sensation play perhaps up there alley
Jonathan Chaffin	Crowdfunding for Newbies	5/18/2018	10:00 AM	11:15 AM	Atlanta 1	How do you get people to support your Big Idea with their hard-earned cash? Kickstarter, Indigogo, GoFundMe and the rest are all different, but there are certain best practices and common threads to help you maximize your project's chance of success. A veteran at crowdfunding, Jonathan of Horror In Clay, Mugerate, and the Atlanta Tiki Tour lifts the veil with practical tips and answers for your questions.
Amy, Aria_Fae, God, Senator	Poly and Married	5/18/2018	11:30 AM	12:45 PM	Savannah 2	All the gritty details on how to navigate poly pitfalls specific to being one of a married couple. What is couple privilege and how does it affect your para and metamours.
ClayMan	Body Image and Self Perception	5/18/2018	11:30 AM	12:45 PM	Georgia 14	What can we learn about body image from Roller Derby and Burlesque? These communities can be bastions of the female led body-positive culture. However, it does not mean they are perfect. This is a panel with both skaters and performers discussing how they perceive themselves and others, how their communities have impacted them, and how those views have evolved. We will also discuss our perceptions about how others perceive themselves and the accuracy of those perceptions. This will feed into a larger discussion about our modern culture and how we understand ourselves and others.
Doctor Q	Polyamory and the Sexuality Spectrum	5/18/2018	11:30 AM	12:45 PM	Savannah 3	This open discussion panel deals with the intersections of poly relationships with partners who aren't on the same spectrum sexually, be it asexuality, gender transitions, etc and how these relationship dynamics work in a non-monogamous relationship model.
Gabriel Belthir, James R. Tuck., Trinity	Editors Tell All	5/18/2018	11:30 AM	12:45 PM	Atlanta 4	Join us for a tell-all from editors who publish kinky (and vanilla) fiction of all flavors. Got questions about how to break in? Questions about the editorial process? About the publishing process? Whatever your questions, you can get the scoop right here!
slave ravyn	Recentering: Recover and Reconnect	5/18/2018	11:30 AM	11:30 AM	Atlanta 2	There are times in our lives when things do not happen the way we would like or expect. Those often are the moments that can lead us to make rash decisions and take actions resulting in negative consequences. In this class, we will look at why this can happen, as well as share ways that have worked for us to avoid those negative consequences. There will be opportunities for those attending the class to practice with some of the strategies we share.
Jinxy	The Art of Shirt Cutting: Shirt, Scissors, Scandalous	5/18/2018	11:30 AM	12:45 PM	Atlanta 3	In this workshop we help you cut up an old T-shirt to transform it into an amazing work of art using knots and woven patterns. We supply the scissors and the know-how; you supply an old T-shirt (loose fitting preferred.)
Taloolah Love	Intro to Burlesque with Taloolah Love	5/18/2018	1:00 PM	2:15 PM	Georgia 13	Love burlesque? Have you always wanted to try it out? This is the class for you! Get your bump and grind on with Taloolah Love at Frolicon! The class begins with an alignment based warm up, so you will want to bring a yoga mat or a towel to lay on, and you will want to wear something sexy that you can move in! Dance shoes are encouraged, but not mandatory, and if you're in the room, you're on the dance floor! No wallflowers are allowed in this all levels class. You will learn a dance combination, and at the end of class there will be a brief cool down.
Aria_Fae, Amy, GOD, Senator	Poly Parenting	5/18/2018	1:00 PM	2:15 PM	Savannah 2	Parenting is no joke! The logistics of scheduling through the constantly changing needs of our children and balancing poly relationships can be daunting. So much to juggle! There are challenges, but also lessons to teach in raising our next generation, no matter what your family/tribe structures. Join us to talk about the strengths and weaknesses of poly parenting in 2018. Bonus points if you bring black coffee for Aria!

Aura	Kinky Jeopardy	5/18/2018	1:00 PM	2:15 PM	Room 127	Are you interesting in testing out your kink and geek knowledge? Come on down and be our next contestant (or lovely buzzer) on Jeopardy. You can test the strength of the penis mightiers, time travel, learn about analbum covers, or buck fitters. Contestants compete for a chance to win a lovely party badge.
DL Wainright, MAGS, Gabriel Belthir	POV: Breaking the Binary - Writing Trans, Non-Binary, and Genderfluid Characters	5/18/2018	1:00 PM	2:15 PM	Atlanta 4	It's a writer's responsibility to create good, well-rounded characters. For writers who are cisgender or identify on the gender binary (ie - male or female), it can be difficult to understand or even imagine what it is like to not be those things. This panel is meant to help authors understand what it means to be non-binary, trans, and genderfluid in our current society, so that they can create authentic and truthful characters that respect the experiences of people whose lives do not fall directly on the binary.
Doctor D and Doctor Peggy Sue	2 MDs and a Microphone: Rash Decisions	5/18/2018	1:00 PM	2:15 PM	Room 125	Doctor D and Doctor Peggy Sue are back for another round of the intersection of kink and actual medicine know-how sprinkled with improv comedy, sarcasm, double entendres and disturbing photographs taken with our night vision cameras in the dark room that will have you laughing and itching all at the same time. If you haven't been to our panel yet, where the fuck have you been? If you want to get a good idea what we are like, listen to one of our podcasts from a few years ago. I've never actually listened to it, but I hear it's pretty good. I don't actually hear that it's pretty good, because that would involve listening to it, but people have told me so. You get it right? Show up to the class, bring your hardest, most throbbing questions and we'll give you the opportunity to ask them anonymously either at the class or ahead on a internet site that rhymes with insurance company "MetLife". If you liked our Science of Subspace class last year, this is the panel for you. If you want to wank it in front of strangers, then masturbation party is probably where you should do that, but as long as it doesn't distract from the class, honestly I don't care, I just want you do come to this panel. And by come I don't mean cum, unless you do, which is totally cool too.
Doctor Q	Mature Themes in Mainstream Comics	5/18/2018	1:00 PM	2:15 PM	Atlanta 2	The comic industry has often been on the forefront of pop culture. Despite being often dismissed as juvenile or for a narrow reader base, the major publishers have tackled many mature themes - such as LGBTQ issues, race relation, addiction, BDSM, consent culture, and much more.
Rhythm N. Mews	Being a Safe Space	5/18/2018	1:00 PM	2:15 PM	Room 123	This class will discuss ways to be a safe space for others. We will learn how to apply skills learned in our own experiences (patience, objective problem-solving, and more) to the act of helping others feel safe, accepted, and understood. This class is geared towards those who wish to help others via a career or hobby, and who strive to be the change they wish to see in the world. Come with goals in mind!
Jinxy and Lee	The Duct Tape Corset Dummy: Corset Patterning	5/18/2018	1:00 PM	2:15 PM	Atlanta 3	We show you how to use the duct tape dummy (DTD) technique for a custom form fitted pattern you can use for sewing making your next corset. You can even wear the DTD out and about if you like! Bring an old, reasonably form fitting T-shirt that you don't mind having cut off of you.
Taloolah Love	Vintage Hair with a Modern Flair	5/18/2018	10:00 AM	11:15 AM	Atlanta3	Taloolah Love has been doing the up-do's with vintage flair with an emphasis on drama and glamour for the past 16 years. She can show you all of the tips and tricks to polishing your look for stage with the perfect coif in this fast paced world! She shows you how to utilize your hair, and includes instruction on how to incorporate wigs and hair pieces in a clear, user friendly way! It is advisable to bring a camera and be prepared to take notes.
Annabel Joseph, Shakir Rashaan	Preserving Your Anonymity as a Kinky Author	5/18/2018	2:30 PM	3:45 PM	Atlanta 4	There are many reasons to want to be anonymous as a kinky author. Jobs, children, family. Is having a pen name enough? Are there other ways to protect your identity as an author of kinky books? What else can you do? We'll talk about that and more on this panel.

Aura	Sexuality in Cartoons	5/18/2018	2:30 PM	3:45 PM	Room 123	This class is a discussion of sex and intimacy in cartoons, from G-rate to XXX. We will talk about the hidden and sometimes obvious sexual innuendos in children's cartoons that you may or may not notice initially as a child but has become apparent over the years when reviewing it again. Discussion will also be had on adult themed cartoons that had us on close to or over the edge in desire and joy.
DariusD, MinuitD	Modeling & Photography 103 - The Business of Fetish Photography	5/18/2018	2:30 PM	3:45 PM	Atlanta 5	This class introduces the idea of WHEN to begin monetizing and how. Topics include: Photographers - Where to sell content, the legal obligations associated with it (see: releases), and the types/amount of content that sales based on our personal experiences. Models - When to charge, whom to charge, and how much to charge. It also covers re-selling content as a model and BRIEFLY touches on Models selling their own content (such as starting their own Patreon accounts).
Hypsy Rose	Frolicon Flow Jam	5/18/2018	2:30 PM	3:45 PM	Georgia 13	Welcome to the 5th annual Frolicon flow jam! The term "flow" refers to the meditative mind state that practitioners find in play. A flow jam is an event where people come together to play with flow toys, which include hula hoops, poi, whips, staff, fans, juggling and other object manipulation toys. We will have plenty of toys to play with as well as guided instruction. And of course music! So come flow with us!
Scarlett, DrTheFanGirl	Poly 201	5/18/2018	2:30 PM	3:45 PM	Savannah 3	Are you polyamorous and ready to go beyond the basics? This panel will focus on more advanced topics like running a poly household, how your agreements may evolve over time, poly families, coming out strategies, dealing with breakups, jealousy, and metamors, and more! The panelists are polyamorous as well as having a background in academic study on polyamory. We hope to offer practical solutions, tips & tricks, and always encouragement – audience members are encouraged to share their advice as well so we can all learn how to create lasting poly relationships.
The Kinky Chiropractor - Dr. Cynthia	Balancing the Nervous System	5/18/2018	2:30 PM	3:45 PM	Georgia 11	Learn how the nervous system plays a role in your scenes: before, during and after. Learn how to manage, extend and expand experiences during scene play, and how to care for each other after the scene. Learn how these skills can be incorporated into your daily life.
Wyatt George, M.S.	Codependency VS Power Exchange	5/18/2018	2:30 PM	3:45 PM	Room 127	Have you made sacrifices in your relationships been called "extreme" by others? Do you feel responsible for your partner's actions? Do you make decisions for your partner in vanilla contexts? Are you codependent??? Maybe. Codependency has become a buzzword that elicits a visceral response for many people, whether they are vanilla or kinky. Unfortunately, increased stigma around the concept may keep people from really analyzing it and considering whether it is something that currently impacts their relationship(s). In relationships with a power exchange dynamic, the distinction between the two can become a bit blurred at times. This class is aimed at developing a fully formed definition of and removing the mystery from codependency as well as understanding the subtle intricacies that differentiate a power exchange relationship from a codependent one.
Edward and Jennifer WinterRose	State of the Geek	5/18/2018	2:30 PM	3:45 PM	Presidential Suite	State of the Geek is an informal roundtable discussion held for the last 3 years where we discuss what has happened in Geekdom since the last Frolicon, and what it means. Come join, and tell us what made your geek flag fly this past year.

When can or should a photo session transition into scene play? Likewise, should a scene play session turn into an impromptu photo shoot?

Bettie Bullet	Now You're Speaking My Love Language	5/18/2018	4:00 PM	5:15 PM	Room 125	Ever feel like your partner isn't hearing you? Doting on your lover, but it seems to fall flat? The problem may be that you're not speaking the same "love language." In this interactive class, we'll talk about the theory in the 5 Love Languages book by Gary Chapman. We'll learn how to type ourselves and our loved ones, talk about miscommunication, and brainstorm loving actions. Fun, open, and interactive, participants will walk out with a better understanding of how to deliberately love their partners better.
Bubble Bordeaux	Body Image: the Struggle is Real	5/18/2018	4:00 PM	5:15 PM	Atlanta 5	A gender-inclusive look at common body image struggles that impact self-worth and some tools to help you better avoid those struggles or work through them in a healthy, positive way. For some, there's nothing like a little extra flavor. One of the fastest growing niche markets is sci-fi, fantasy, and horror erotica. We're going to examine how genre fiction relates to erotica, some unique difficulties of choosing these settings and trappings, and maybe even find a few monsters of our own.
DL Wainright, Gabriel Belthir, James R. Tuck, Robby Hillard	Freaks, Geeks, & Bug-Eyed Monsters	5/18/2018	4:00 PM	5:15 PM	Atlanta 4	You do it on your desk. The dinner table. The steering wheel. even on you knee. You do it when you tap you toe. when you stomp. even when you clap. You create a beat. a rhythm. Some of us in the lifestyle cant do a proper scene without some kind of music to set the mood.
Blacfoxx	Rhythmic Impact Play	5/18/2018	4:00 PM	5:15 PM	Room 123	TBD
Oystersandwich	Body Paint TBD	5/18/2018	4:00 PM	5:15 PM	Atlanta 3	The idea behind this workshop is to introduce participants to fundamental ideas and principles of personal self defense. This workshop will show participants how to work against opponents who have initiated an attack, and how to counter those attacks quickly and effectively. Attention will be given to simple joint manipulations and strikes, escapes, and how to manipulate an attacker's energy against them. There will also be discussion of the psychological principles behind effective self defense.
Jamie and Jennings	Self-Defense Principles and Ideas	5/18/2018	4:00 PM	6:45 PM	Georgia 14	You might have joined Greymen and KiantaWench for last year's lecture on common ethical non-monogamy problems, calamities, trip-ups and gaping holes. This class is a continuation; a more in depth discussion and Q&A surrounding 5 of the most common pitfalls. No need to have been to the class last year. Feel free to come and join in the discussion.

Rachel Anne Kieran, Psy.D.	You can't drink from any empty cup: Learning to cope with stress (productively!)	5/19/2018	1:00 PM	2:15 PM	Room 125	How many relationships are you in? No matter how we answer that question, most of us need to add 1 to that number - we forget about our relationship WITH OURSELVES. At best we put this important relationship last, and at worst we ignore it altogether, forgetting that if we do not take care of ourselves we have nothing left to give to others. In this workshop, learn about the very real physical, cognitive, emotional and interpersonal consequences of failing to attend to the most basic self-care. Learn how human beings evolved into the balls of anxiety we are today, and what we can do about it. And make a plan to add a caring, loving, restorative relationship to your live – a nurturing relationship with yourself!

Shakir Rashaan	Setting the Mood: The Art of Erotic Storytelling	5/19/2018	1:00 PM	2:15 PM	Atlanta 4	With the wildly popular erotic romance novels that have found their way into the forefront of the mainstream consciousness, the ability of those authors to write imaginative sex scenes has also fallen under the microscope. The sex scenes have gotten more graphic, and presumably, more imaginative, with each book that enters the marketplace . Whether using every position in the Kama Sutra, or using every BDSM and fetish implement known to man, the questions still remain: Is the scene written well enough? Is it something that "normal people" do, or can do? Is there a difference between erotic and pornographic, and can they coexist in the same novel? National Bestselling author Shakir Rashaan is the author of the Nubian Underworld series, and a featured contributor to two New York Times Bestselling anthologies. He will facilitate those questions and teach other aspects of writing scorching sex scenes. Whether you're writing a hot scene for your significant other or for profit, this is a class you won't want to miss.
