			Why on earth should small businesses not be allowed to use a great application for customer support, whilst the big boys are?' That's the question Floris asked his brother Thijs on October 3rd, 2011 (a rather dull Monday). At the time, Floris and Thijs were working for Livecom, the company they founded in 2003. Livecom developed a

In 2000, he and his business partners realised that the Internet was "an opportunity to welcome the world in a virtual store with digital catalogues". This realization led to the creation of a revolutionary concept an online platform entirely dedicated to flash sales for brands. In January 2001, Jacques-Antoine and his seven business partners launched vente-privee.com in France, before e-commerce had barely started in Europe. He then applied his extensive experience to the Internet, selling excess stock for important fashion and home brands, relying on two main strategies: events and exclusivity, all the while focusing on customer satisfaction. In 2012, he went on to win the "Customer Service Award" for the fourth year in a row, presented to him by the Institute BVA-Vis6o Conseil, France's fourth market research company. It was not until 2004 that the website's success became apparent. In 2005, its turnover grew a staggering 500% from the previous year. The website is now available in 8 European countries (France, Germany, Spain, Italy, UK, Belgium and Austria, and the Netherlands) and the United States, in partnership with American Express. In 12 years, vente-privee.com has become an event-creating media, bringing together over 18 million members and 2.5 million unique users per day. 			Créée en 2001, Truffle Capital est une société spécialisée dans l'investissement dans des entreprises innovantes. Elle est constituée d'une équipe de 3 dirigeants, Henri Moulard, Dr. Philippe Pouletty et Bernard-Louis Roque, et de 17 collaborateurs. Son siège social se situe dans le 8ème arrondissement de Paris. Dédiée principalement à des créations d'entreprises et aux spin-offs de grands groupes industriels, des entreprises, des universités et des laboratoires engagés dans des technologies de rupture, la société s'adresse à une clientèle française et européenne. Identifier le potentiel des entreprises pour répondre à des besoins de marché non encore satisfaits est l'un des principaux objectifs de la société spécialiste du capital-investissement. Responsable de la gestion de portefeuille, Truffle Capital s'engage à accroître et à valoriser l'investissement des entreprises en s'entourant d'une équipe internationale experte dans le secteur des technologies. Elle est au cœur des investissements des secteurs des sciences de la vie et des technologies de l'information. Truffle Capital cherche à aller au-delà du simple financement et ajouter de la valeur économique et sociale aux entreprises. Elle les accompagne notamment dans la prise de décisions stratégiques, dans l'ouverture sur le marché international, dans les introductions en bourse etc. Avec 700 millions d'euros sous gestion et conseil aujourd'hui à travers des véhicules d'investissement conçus spécialement pour répondre aux besoins d'investisseurs institutionnels et de personnes privées, la société se positionne parmi les leaders européens de son domaine d'activité. En diversifiant depuis ses débuts dans plusieurs entreprises dans deux secteurs jugés à fort potentiel (sciences de la vie et technologies de l'information), Truffle renforce son action et fait ses meilleurs efforts pour se préserver des aléas des cycles économiques. Ainsi, Truffle Capital gère à la fois des fonds d'investissement institutionnels et des fonds de détails, en totale adéquation avec son positionnement sur les marchés et sa stratégie d'investissement. Elle est le partenaire privilégié d'investisseurs institutionnels tels que des sociétés d'assurances et des banques.
			Elle gère notamment Truffle Venture FCPR depuis 2003 et Truffle Capital II FPCI, lancé en 2008, deux fonds institutionnels. La société crée et encadre également 20 FCPI (Fonds Commun de Placement dans l'Innovation) pour des investisseurs privés. Il s'agit notamment de la gamme Europe Innovation et la gamme Fortune. D'autre part, Truffle Capital a créé en 2010 une série de holdings baptisées "Holdings Incubatrices 2010". L'objectif de ce lancement est d'investir dans de jeunes PME qualifiées d'innovantes, de les accompagner et de les conseiller dans le cadre de leurs développements. La société intervient également dans le domaine du mandat de gestion. Elle accompagne en effet ses clients souhaitant apporter un soutien direct aux entreprises innovantes.
			Qu'il s'agisse de FCPR, de FCPI ou de Holdings Incubatrices, Truffle Capital investit toujours avec un objectif de plus-values potentielles pour les investisseurs, en contrepartie d'un blocage des fonds de 7 à 10 ans en moyenne. Signataire du PRI, Principes pour l'Investissement Responsable, la société se positionne au-delà des critères financiers pour prendre également en compte les critères ESG liés à l'Environnement, au Social et à la Gouvernance. Elle accorde une attention particulière aux problématiques associées aux économies d'énergie quand elle investit dans le secteur énergétique, au bien-être des patients quand elle agit dans le domaine des sciences de la vie ou encore à la sécurité informatique

			The aim of Scientipole Initiative is to closely associate corporate and technological resources in order to contribute to the emergence of innovative enterprises and support the development of such projects. Scientipole Initiative audits the potential projects, counsels and accompanies the future entrepreneurs from both a scientific and technological base as well as from a managerial point of view. The granting of a non-juaranteed no interest loan to the principal entrepreneur(s) of the start-up or project furnishes a real tool of financial leverage. This loan is a personnel loan, ranging from 20 to 90KC per enterprise, for a period of up to 5 years. After the loan has been granted, Scientipole Initiative rovides a follow-up of the projects it has helped by direct sponsorship, coaching and workshops. Scientipole Initiative relies on a large network of over 60 experts who provide support to the new entrepreneurs. Since 2002, Scientipole Initiative valar pervanent staff of 13. 			Jean-Charles Naouri (born March 8, 1949 in Bône (now Annaba), Algeria, is a French entrepreneur who is currently Chairman, Chief Executive Officer and controlling shareholder of Groupe Casino. At 14, Mr Naouri was awarded first prizes for top scores on both the Latin and Greek exams in France's national concours général competition for high school students. At 15, he passed his baccalauréat exam with highest honours, and in 1967, he ranked first in the nationwide entrance examination to the École normale supérieure (Mathematics). He then earned a PhD in Mathematics in just one year. Mr Naouri also attended Harvard University and the Ecole Nationale d'Administration (ENA), where he graduated from in 1976. After graduating from ENA in 1976, Mr Naouri joined the Inspection des finances, the auditing and supervisory body of the French Administration. From 1982 to 1986, he served as chief of staff for Pierre Bérégovoy, both at the Ministry of Social Affairs and National Solidarity and the Ministry of Economy, Finance and Budget. During this period, he was the architect of the reforms implemented in the French financial markets, which included the creation of the MATIF futures and MONEP options markets and the introduction of certificates of deposit and commercial paper. In particular, he helped drive the financial market liberalization with measures to ease currency controls and eliminate credit restrictions. In 1987, Mr Naouri left government service and joined Rothschild & Cie Banque as Managing Partner. Around the same time, he established his own investment fund, Euris, which acquired minority equity investments in industrial companies, while rapidly increasing its investment capabilities. In the early 1990s, Mr Naouri shifted his investment strategy from opportunistic to acquiring strategic stakes. As part of this new strategy, in 1991 he acquired the Brittany-based retailer Rallye, which at the time was facing serious cash flow issues/challenges. Convinced of the future potential for retailing and the benefits of combining the two companies, in 1992 he engineered a merger of Rallye with Groupe Casino, thereby becoming Groupe Casino's largest shareholder. In 1997, a hostile takeover bid for Groupe Casino by rival retailer Promodès was thwarted by the successful counter offer from Jean-Charles Naouri, the Guichard family and Casino management, thereby maintaining the Group's independence. In March 2005, Mr Naouri became Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of Casino Group, leading a substantial transformation of the retailer's profile by disposing of underperforming business segments in Poland, the United States, Taiwan and the Netherlands and strengthening the Group's presence in fast-growing markets. This made Casino the leading food retailer in South America (especially Brazil and Colombia), the Indian Ocean and Vietnam and the second largest in Thailand. In France, Mr Naouri has refocused French operations in the convenience format segment, Groupe Casino's core business, and also positioned Casino in the discount segment by developing the Leader Price chain and the Cdiscount e-commerce website acquired in 2000. In 2012, Groupe Casino acquired a controlling interest in Brazilian retailer Pāo de Açúcar, the country's largest private-sector employer. The Group also purchased the 50% of French retailer Monoprix, which it did not already own, becoming the sole shareholder. In addition to his business activities, Jean-Charles Naouri is also the founder of the Euris Foundation, which he created in 2000. Each year, the Foundation grants 40 scholarships to promising high school graduates from impoverished neighbourhoods in France. He is also Vice Chairman of the Groupe Casino corporate foundation, which he founded in 2009 to improve access to culture and knowledge for children who are disadvantaged or suffering from illness. In addition, he is Honorary Chairman and Trustee of Ecole Normale Supérieure's Institut d' Béla Hatvany is a pioneer in the automation of libraries and the information industry. Companies founded by him have been responsible for the first Online Public Access Catalog (OPAC), the first CD-ROMs, the first networked CD-ROM, the first client-server library databases, and some of the earliest internet library database retrieval engines. In addition he was a key investor in the first streaming music databases for libraries (Classical.com), Credo Reference and JustGiving. He is recognized as a visionary in library information. He was born in 1938. His father was a Hungarian Jew, his mother Spanish. They emigrated to England where Béla spent his childhood. He received a scholarship to attend University of St Andrews from BP. In 1956 he began his career as a customer service engineer, a computer programmer and a salesman. In 1965, he moved to the United States to get an MBA at Harvard University. He founded his first company, COMSISA in Mexico City in 1968. It served sugar mills and local businesses. In 1971, in partnership with Dennis Beaumont, Computer Library Services (CLSI) was started in Boston. This was the first company to develop the minicomputer for use in libraries, in effect building the Online Public Access Computer (OPAC) market. Hatvany then went on and sold it to Thyssen Bornemisza in 1985 and returned to live in London. In the early 80s.

			along with Henry Ng, he invented an early version of the touch screen which is now used in many table and other computer devices. In 1983, he started a small organization that became SilverPlatter Information Ltd. The company published the first CD-ROMs in 1984. The company thrived developing a number of innovative products including networked CD-ROM, client-server delivery for bibliographic databases and was one of the first companies to deliver databases on the internet. In 2001 it was sold to Wolters-Kluwer for $113 million. Since then Béla has invested in a number of early-stage, internet-based companies including Classical.com, JustGiving, Credo Reference, Productorial, Mustardseed Charitable Trust and Coreweb. In 1987, Hatvany received the LITA/Gaylord Award for Achievement in Library and Information Technology. In 1991, he received the Entrepreneurial Excellence Award from the Optical Publishing Association. In 2000, the National Federation of Advanced Information Services (NFAIS) honored him with the Miles Conrad Award for his outstanding contribution to the information industry. In 2013, Hatvany announced an alliance where organizations, individuals, businesses and entrepreneurs can join to collaborate, share information and experience. Named 'The Bela Initiative', its purpose is to give and to receive in ways that empower oneself or others to develop a clear purpose to serve the whole – in short to enable a world that works

			MPcroissance is a private equity firm founded in 1996 on the initiative of the Regional Council of Midi-Pyrenees and with the support of IRDI to invest equity in regional SMEs. Its objective is to contribute to regional economic development and the creation of sustainable jobs. His interventions in the capital as a minority shareholder possible to significantly increase the equity of companies and thus help executives overcome the challenges of starting, developing or taking over companies. His approach is part of an association between the skills of local authorities and that of the main actors of the regional economy: industrial, financial and banking institutions, consular institutions, united in the capital MPcroissance but especially in the work of all days in the field. For Toulouse, Midi-Pyrenees, France		entrepreneurs, the coherent project and quality MPcroissance represents a solution to the critical problem of insufficient equity.				http://www.mpcr	contact@irdi.fr	(058) 131-7327
