Have a silly face selfie contest.

Become pen pals with youth in another ward. Yep, use actual stamps!

Write letters to missionaries serving from your ward or stake.

Ask everyone to share a favorite joke or funny cartoon. You could compile them into a joke book to share with elderly members of your ward family.

Share a simple recipe for everyone to make. Then show pictures of how it turned out for everyone.

Have a book club! Choose a book, everyone reads it, and then everyone discusses it.

Take a nature walk in your neighborhood. Post pictures of interesting things you saw.

Make a scavenger hunt for common household items. Whoever finds them first in their own home wins!

Have a virtual shopping contest. Everyone gets the same amount of imaginary money. Prizes go to whoever finds the silliest item, best bargain, most obscure item, and so on that fits the budget.

Do a Lego challenge: maybe choose a scripture story or some other gospel theme.

Share family history stories with each other. If you don't know any good family history stories, this will be good incentive to find some!

Text one another your favorite scriptures or quotes from conference talks.

Have a silly 10-second dance video contest.

Take a photo of an interesting cloud and have the others in your group suggest what it looks like.

Have a virtual costume contest. You could pick a theme to rally around or let everyone's imagination run wild.

| Details | My ward did this when I was in YW and it's one of my favorite memories. We met at the church early on a Friday and stayed there until late in the evening reading scriptures. We had some time to read on our own, and some time that was set aside for different speakers covering different scripture stories. On Saturday morning we came back to the church and shared a big breakfast, read some more, and had more speakers. We did this with the Book of Mormon, but we could do D&C and still have time for other activities. | Carthage Jail, Grandin Printing Press, Johnson Home, Joseph Smith Birthplace, Historic Kirtland, Historic Nauvoo, Independence Visitor's Center, Liberty Jail, Mormon Battalion Center, Mormon Trail Center at Winter Quarters, Priesthood Restoration Site, Sacred Grove, St. George Tabernacle, Temple Square, | If Church sites are open: Church History Library (special collections), Relief Society Building (women of the restoration), Daughters of Utah Pioneers Museum, Church History Museum, Family History Library, Rooftop tour Conference Center, Observation deck Church Office Building, This is the Place SLC Cemetery search/Heber C., Kimball family site, Brigham Young site, Gilgal Gardens, Ensign Peak, Temple Square | Walk from Jordan River to Oquirrh Mountain, or vice versa | Relative Race style competition: activities mixed with scavenger hunt type elements- maybe geocaching, could include some games available on Family Search. Our Quest to Connect | Could be in church building, or possibly at an escape room. Getoutgames.com has a free download of an LDS escape room. | JustServe.org | Cook dinner and/or treats over the fire, and possibly hold a testimony meeting or spiritual message afterwards. | Scatter clues throughout the neighborhood, and follow the clues to get to some sort of endpoint. (activity or reward) We would need to brainstorm ideas for specific clues and such. 180 Photo Scavenger Hunt Scripture Hunt |
